HISTORICAL SUMMARY.

Origin of the College.

THE early history of the ROYAL COLLEGE OF SURGEONS OF ENGLAND is the history of two Companies, which, existing at first as separate fraternities or guilds, were for a time united into one body corporate, and finally became resolved again into two distinct Corporations. One of these, the Barbers' Company of London, is first definitely mentioned, in the records preserved at the Guildhall, in the year 1308, when Richard le Barber was presented and sworn before the Court of Aldermen as Master and Supervisor of the Barbers' Guild; and from an Ordinance of the City made in the previous year it is evident that the Barbers of London were at that time engaged in the practice of at least some branches of Surgery. The other Company, known as the Fellowship or Guild of Surgeons, is mentioned in the City records in the year 1369, when two Masters were sworn before the Court of Aldermen and given power to report the faults of unskilful Surgeons.

The Barbers' Company first mentioned in 1308.

The Surgeons' Guild mentioned in 1369.

Between these two bodies there was for many years a keen rivalry and jealousy. Each tried by turns to attain supremacy of authority and jurisdiction in matters relating to the practice of Surgery. In the year 1376 the Barbers made a complaint to the Mayor and Aldermen against unskilled practitioners in Surgery, and obtained an Ordinance providing that two Masters should be appointed annually to direct and rule the Craft, to inspect instruments, and to see that none should be admitted to the franchise of the City except after attestation of their skill by good examination. Fourteen years later, however, four Masters of the Surgeons' Guild were sworn before the Court of Aldermen, and they were invested with the power of scrutiny among persons practising Surgery and with authority to present defaults. But in the year 1410 the Barbers obtained from the Court of Aldermen confirmation of the privileges granted to them in 1376 with the addition that they should be enjoyed "without the scrutiny of any person or persons of any other craft or trade under any name whatsoever other than the craft or trade of the said Barbers."

Barbers' Company assumes two-fold character.

The Barbers' Company was by this time assuming a twofold character, for it consisted of two classes of members, those who were Barbers simply or practised only the minor branches of Surgery, such as blood-letting and tooth-drawing, and those who exercised the faculty of Surgery. In the year 1415 the Mayor and Aldermen required the Company to furnish them with a list of all the latter class of members, from which they selected two as Masters of those practising Surgery, leaving to the Company itself the election of the Masters of the Barbers. Meanwhile the Guild of Surgeons sought an alliance with the Physicians. About the year 1423, probably through the influence of Thomas Morstede (a Surgeon who accompanied Henry V. to Agincourt and who was afterwards Surgeon to Henry VI.), they obtained an Ordinance from the Court of Aldermen having for its object an association or Commonalty of Physicians and Surgeons. Fortified by the support of the Physicians, the Surgeons once more challenged the surgical privileges of the Barbers, but these were again confirmed by the Mayor and Aldermen in 1424. The scheme for a combination of Physicians and Surgeons fell through, but the Surgeons continued a separate body with Ordinances for the government of their Society. The volume containing these Ordinances, which were made in the year 1435, is still in existence and is now in the possession of the Barbers' Company.

The Barbers incorporated by Edward IV. in 1462.

Freed from opposition, the Barbers' Company continued to grow in importance. and in the year 1462 the right of its members to practise Surgery was definitely established by Letters Patent granted by Edward IV. in the first year of his reign. This Charter, from which the Royal College of Surgeons of England, as recited in the Charter of 1800, dates its constitutional history as a body corporate, was granted to the Freemen of the Mystery of Barbers of the City of London practising Surgery. They were made one Body and Perpetual Community with a Common Seal and with power to hold lands and make Bye-Laws. Provision was made for the annual election of two Masters to rule the Community, to have the scrutiny and government of all persons practising Surgery in London and its suburbs, as well as the supervision of their instruments and medicines, and to have power to inflict punishment upon offenders by fines, imprisonment and other reasonable means. No person was to be allowed to practise Surgery within the City of London and its suburbs unless first approved by the Masters of the Company. The surgical rights of the Barbers' Company were thus firmly established, and, as testimony to the eminence attained by the Surgeons of the Company, it is worthy of note that the Senior Warden of the Company, when the Charter was granted, was William Hobbes, Serjeant-Surgeon to the King—probably the first to hold that office.

Alliance between the Barbers' Company and Surgeons' Guild made in 1493.

In the year 1493 the Guild of Surgeons, which had continued as a separate body, entered into an alliance or "Composition" with the Barbers' Company, by which the two Companies agreed each to appoint two Wardens, the four so appointed to act together in all matters relating to Surgery and to the examination and government of its practitioners.

Of the Act 3rd Henry VIII. relating to the Bishop's Licence; 1511.

The Charter granted by Edward IV. to the Barbers' Company was confirmed by Henry VII. and also by Henry VIII., but in 1511 an Act (3 Henry VIII. cap. 11) was passed, constituting a further licensing authority by enacting that no person should practise as a Physician or Surgeon in London, or within seven miles of the same, unless first examined and approved by the Bishop of London, or the Dean of St. Paul's, with the assistance of four Physicians or Surgeons. Two years later, upon the petition of the Guild of Surgeons, another Act (5 Henry VIII. cap. 6) was passed, providing that a limited number of members of the Fellowship (or Guild) of Surgeons, as also of members of the Barbers' Company duly admitted as Surgeons, should be exempt from Constableship and Watch and from bearing arms and serving upon inquests and juries within the City of London.

The two Companies united by Henry VIII. in 1540.

In the year 1540 the two Companies, which had so long been associated by voluntary agreement, were formally united by Act of Parliament, and thus entered upon a new era in their career. The Act (32nd Henry VIII. cap. 42) after reciting that there were two distinct Companies of Surgeons in London, one called the Barbers of London and the other the Surgeons of London, enacted that the two Companies should from thenceforth be united and made one Body Corporate, to be called by the name of the Masters or Governors of the Mystery and Commonalty of the Barbers and Surgeons of London. The United Company was to enjoy all the rights and privileges at any time granted to the two separate Companies. Four Masters or Governors, two to be Surgeons and two to be Barbers, were to be appointed annually; barbers were forbidden to perform any surgical operations, except the drawing of teeth, and surgeons were not to exercise the craft of barbery and shaving. Provision was also made for the study of Anatomy by giving the Company the right to claim four bodies annually of persons executed for felony. Thomas Vicary, Serjeant-Surgeon to Henry VIII. and afterwards to Mary and to Elizabeth, was elected the first Master. The United Company shared the possession of Barbers' Hall, which is known to have occupied its present site in Monkwell Street since 1490 and was probably there even before that. The Hall, subsequently added to by Inigo Jones in 1636, is still standing, having escaped destruction in the Great Fire of London.

The Union thus effected was destined to last for more than two hundred years. At first, however, the privileges conferred on the Surgeons of the Company appear to have excited opposition, for in the 34th and 35th years of Henry VIII. an Act was passed allowing unlicensed persons to treat outward sores and swellings with herbs and ointments.

Of the Act 34th and 35th Henry VIII. regarding treatment of minor ailments by unlicensed persons.

During the reign of Queen Mary, in the year 1555, Regulations were drawn up relating to the examination of persons for the Company's Licence to practise. These Regulations provided for the appointment of thirteen Examiners, including the Master and two Governors. This is the origin of the Court of Examiners of the Royal College of Surgeons of England, although it was not until the time of Charles I. that the appointment of ten Examiners—the number continued to this day—was provided for by Charter.

Origin of Court of Examiners in 1555.

In the year 1605 the Company obtained a Charter from James I. providing that the Governing Body of the Company should consist of four Masters or Governors, two of whom were to be Surgeons, and twenty-six Assistants. The Company was given power to examine Barbers and Surgeons, and to prohibit ignorant persons, or such as wilfully refused to be examined, from practising.

Letters Patent of James I. and provisions thereof, 1605.

In the year 1629 Charles I. granted a further Charter to the Company, providing that ten Freemen of the Company should be elected and constituted Examiners of Surgeons in London. No one was to practise Surgery in London, or within seven miles of it, except Members of the College of Physicians, unless examined and approved by the Examiners of the Company, and every person so approved might practise Surgery anywhere in England. Apprentices were to serve for not less than seven years, to be sound in body and limbs, and to read and understand Latin. The duty was also assigned to the Court of Examiners of examining Surgeons and Surgeons' Assistants for the Royal Navy and Merchant Service and of inspecting their instruments and chests of medicines. This duty they and their successors, the Company of Surgeons and the Royal College of Surgeons, continued to discharge until other arrangements were made at a comparatively recent date.

Surgeons object to their union with the Barbers, 1684.

For many years the union between the two Companies appears to have worked smoothly, but as early as 1684 there were signs that the Surgeons were beginning to find their association with the Barbers irksome and inconvenient. In that year a Petition for the dissolution of the United Company was presented to the King, but the agitation died out, and it was not until many years later that further steps were taken in the matter. The dissatisfaction, however, continued. From the year 1540 the practice of Surgery had been entirely separated from that of barbery, and much progress had been made in surgical skill and knowledge. Under the United Company several of the Surgeons had attained great eminence in their profession, and among these may be mentioned Richard Ferris, Thomas Gale, the two Clowes', Wiseman, Amyand, Cheselden, Sir Caesar Hawkins, and Percivall Pott. The Surgeons resented the presence of Barbers at their examinations, and objected to the signatures of Barbers appearing upon Surgical Diplomas. In 1744 they informed the Barbers that they intended to petition Parliament for the dissolution of the union. The Barbers protested against this, and both parties presented Petitions to Parliament. The Surgeons prevailed, and in the year 1745 an Act of Parliament was passed dissolving the union and establishing two separate Companies. The Barbers were allowed to retain the whole of the Corporate property, real and personal, with the exception of the Arris Bequest and Gale's Annuity for Anatomy Lectures founded in 1646 and 1655 respectively. These Trusts the Act vested in the Company of Surgeons, and they are now administered by the Royal College of Surgeons.

Act of 18th George II. dissolves union and constitutes Company of Surgeons.

This Act of the 18th George II. dissolving the union of the Barbers and the Surgeons incorporated the Surgeons under the name of the Master, Governors and Commonalty of the Art and Science of Surgeons of London, and constituted a governing body consisting of twenty-one Assistants appointed for life, of whom one was to be Master and two Governors or Wardens elected annually, and of whom ten were to be Examiners appointed for life. John Ranby, Serjeant-Surgeon to George II. (whom he accompanied to the battle of Dettingen in 1743), became the first Master of the Company, and upon taking his seat he presented a handsome silver cup, which is still in the possession of the College. The First Wardens were Joseph Sandford and William Cheselden. These appointments were made by the Act, which also specified by name the ten Examiners and sixteen Members of the Court of Assistants. The sixteen thus appointed were directed to meet forthwith, and select from the Freemen of the Company five others to complete the number of the Court. Thereafter, the Court were to meet on the first Thursday in July in each succeeding year for the election of the Master and Governors, and to fill up any vacancies, which from time to time might occur from death or resignation among the Examiners and Assistants. In addition to examining Surgeons for the Navy the Examiners were also required to examine all candidates for the posts of Surgeon or Surgeons' Mate in the Army. The Freemen of the Company were to enjoy the same Surgical privileges as approved Surgeons of the United Company had enjoyed under the Act of Union and Charter of Charles I., and, while in the practice of their profession, were to be exempt from all Parish, Ward, and Leet Offices and from serving upon Juries.

The Examiners and the Court of Assistants.

The Surgeons had to find a new home, and, after holding their first meetings at Stationers' Hall, eventually secured premises in the Old Bailey and there built Surgeons' Hall, entering into occupation in 1751. Here the business of the Company was transacted until 1796, when the Court of Assistants, finding the building in need of substantial repair and their tenure of the premises secured for not more than fifty-five years, determined to dispose of the property and erect a new building upon a freehold site.

Surgeons Hall built.

About this time the Company became involved in difficulties in consequence of a provision in the Act of Incorporation which had unfortunately been framed without due regard to possible eventualities. This provision required that the Master and Governors, or any two of them, with nine or more members of the Court of Assistants, should constitute a Court for the despatch of business. On the 7th July, 1796, a meeting was held at which the Master, Mr. Gunning, presided, but at which no Governor was present, one having died in the previous May and the other being too ill to attend. Consequently it was impossible to obtain a properly constituted quorum. Nevertheless the Court conducted its ordinary business, and among other matters elected Henry Cline to the Court of Assistants. In spite of this technical defect in their constitution, the Court of Assistants continued to transact the business of the Company. They disposed of their property in the Old Bailey and acquired a freehold site in Lincoln's Inn Fields, upon which part of the present building of the Royal College of Surgeons of England now stands. The business of the Company was not suspended. Examinations were held and Diplomas were issued. The Examinations of Surgeons for the Navy and Army were also continued. It became, however, necessary to find some means of removing the legal difficulties which had arisen, and, for this purpose and also with the object of acquiring additional powers and authority, a Bill was introduced into Parliament. The Bill passed through the Commons, but was thrown out in the House of Lords; and after further deliberation it was determined to abandon the Bill and to petition for a Charter from the Crown.

Property in Old Bailey sold and site in Lincoln's Inn Fields acquired.

Endeavour to reconstitute Company by Act of Parliament abandoned, and petition for Charter presented.

Meanwhile Parliament entrusted to the care of the Company the Hunterian Collection purchased for the Nation at a cost of £15,000. The Collection was delivered to the Company under an Order of the Treasury, dated 28th November, 1799, and in March 1800 the Company was re-incorporated and constituted by the name of the Royal College of Surgeons in London, by Charter granted by George III. In the year 1806 Parliament voted a sum of £15,000, and subsequently a further sum of £12,500, in aid of the erection of a building for the display of the Hunterian Collection. A contribution of £21,000 was at the same time made from the funds of the College, and the Museum was opened to visitors in 1813.

Hunterian Collection entrusted to Company in 1799.

The Charter of the 40th George III. definitively severed the connexion of the College with the Corporation of the City of London. Members of the College were not entitled to any franchise belonging to the Freemen of the City, but all other privileges and possessions acquired under former Acts and Charters, and not altered by the Charter then granted, were continued and ratified. The Court of Assistants still consisted of twenty-one Members appointed for life with power to fill up vacancies as they might happen, and from them were chosen the ten Examiners, the Master and two Governors or Wardens being selected from these ten. The two principal Serjeant-Surgeons and the Surgeon-

Court of Examiners to examine all Army and Navy Surgeons and Assistants and Mates.

Charles Hawkins, Serjeant-Surgeon to George III., was appointed the First Master, and William Long and George Chandler became the first Governors. All Members of the old Company of Surgeons, on signifying their acceptance of the Charter, were entitled to become Members of the College, and any person in the future desiring to become a Member was required to pass an examination and obtain "Letters Testimonial of his Qualification to practise the Art and Science of Surgery under the Common Seal of the College." In addition to examining candidates for the Membership, the Court of Examiners were required, as under the former Acts and Charters, to examine all Army and Navy Surgeons, their Assistants and Mates, and to inspect their instruments.

Titles of Master and Governors changed to President and Vice-Presidents, and Court of Assistants to be called Council.

A further Charter, granted by George IV. in 1822, changed the titles Master and Governors to President and Vice-Presidents, and provided that the Court of Assistants should in future be styled the Council of the College.

Name of College changed to Royal College of Surgeons of England and Fellowship instituted in 1843.

No change was, however, made in the constitution of the College until the year 1843, when a new Charter (7th Victoria) was obtained, which changed the name of the College to The Royal College of Surgeons of England, and instituted a new class of Members, who were to be called Fellows, from and by whom the Council were to be elected. The number of the Council was increased to twenty-four, and, while the existing Members of the Council were allowed to continue in office for life, provision was made that three elected Members should retire annually, so that, when no more life-Members were left, it would not be possible for a Member to retain his seat for a longer period than eight years without re-election.

Constitution of Court of Examiners altered.

A great change was also effected by this Charter in the constitution of the Court of Examiners. They were no longer to be necessarily selected from the Council, but any Fellow, whether on the Council or not, was made eligible. The Examiners then in office were to continue for life, but all future Examiners were to hold office only during the pleasure of the Council. The Serjeant-Surgeons and Surgeon-General to the Forces were no longer to have any preference of being admitted Examiners, and the President and Vice-Presidents were not to be chosen exclusively from the Examiners but from all the Members of the Council indifferently, whether Examiners of the College or not.

Provision for election of the first Fellows.

The Charter further provided that the President, Vice-Presidents and Members of the Council should be Fellows, and directed them to elect, within three months from the date of the Charter, not less than 250 and not more than 300 Members of the College to be Fellows. They were also given power to appoint other Members to be Fellows within one year from the date of the Charter. With these exceptions no persons were to be admitted to the Fellowship except by examination, nor until attaining the age of twenty-five years. The first Fellows, 300 in number, were chosen mainly from the Surgeons, Assistant-Surgeons and Lecturers of the Metropolitan and Provincial Hospitals. They were elected under one general Diploma on December 11th, 1843. A further election of 242 Fellows took place on the 26th August, 1844, and these included a considerable number of representatives of the Naval, Military and Indian Forces.

Further provision for the election of Fellows in 1852.

In the year 1852 further extension of the principle of election to the Fellowship without examination was made by a Supplemental Charter (15th Victoria), which enabled the Council to elect Members of fifteen years' standing to the Fellowship, provided they were Members when the Charter of 1843 was enacted. The Council were also empowered to admit annually to the Fellowship, without examination, two Members of the College of twenty years' standing, and authority was given for the ad eundem admission to the Fellowship, under certain conditions, of Fellows by examination of the Dublin and the Edinburgh Colleges of Surgeons, and the Faculty of Physicians and Surgeons of Glasgow. This Charter also provided that Members of the Court of Examiners thereafter elected should go out of office at the end of five years, but should be eligible for immediate re-election. Provision was also made for the appointment of a Board of Examiners in Midwifery for testing the fitness of persons to practise Midwifery, and Licences in Midwifery were granted to persons passing the Examinations of the Board until the year 1875, after which the Examinations were discontinued.

Examiners to retire at end of five years.

Licence in Midwifery instituted.

Licence in Dental Surgery instituted in 1859.

In the year 1859 the Licence in Dental Surgery was instituted under the Charter of the 23rd Victoria, which empowered the Council to appoint a Board of Examiners for testing the fitness of persons to practise as Dentists.

Enabling Act of 1875.

In the year 1875 an Act of Parliament was passed to enable the College to associate itself with one or more of the Colleges or Bodies named in Medical Acts for the purpose of conducting joint examinations for qualifications to be registered under the Acts. In pursuance of the provisions of this Act the College subsequently entered into an Agreement with the Royal College of Physicians of London, establishing a Conjoint Examining Board and requiring that all candidates for the Licence of the Royal College of Physicians of London and the Membership of the Royal College of Surgeons of England, commencing professional study after the 1st October, 1884, should pass the Examinations of the Board before becoming entitled to their Diplomas. Thus was constituted the present Examining Board of the two Colleges. The lease of a site on the Victoria Embankment was acquired from the Duchy of Lancaster, and on this an Examination Hall for the Board was erected at the joint expense of the two Colleges. The foundation-stone was laid by Queen Victoria on the 24th March 1886, and the Hall was first used for examinations in the year 1887.

Charter of 1888 allows Fellows to record votes at Council Elections by papers sent through Post.

In the year 1888 a Supplemental Charter was obtained, mainly with the objects of enabling the College to hold lands and hereditaments of a greater yearly value than that previously sanctioned, and of allowing Fellows to record their votes at elections to the Council by voting-papers sent through the Post, instead of by personal attendance at the College, as required up to that time.

Honorary Fellowship instituted by Charter in 1899.

The last Charter, obtained by the College in 1899, the 63rd year of Queen Victoria's reign, enables the Council to elect persons, whom they shall deem to be sufficiently distinguished for the purpose, to be Honorary Fellows of the College. These Honorary Fellows, the number of whom must not exceed fifty at any time, are not eligible for the Council or for the Court of Examiners, nor are they entitled to vote at Elections to the Council. Their status is purely honorary and does not confer the right to practise Surgery. At the head of a list of distinguished names the College has the honour to place that of King George V. His Majesty, when Prince of Wales, became an Honorary Fellow of the College, and, after ascending the Throne, signified his pleasure to retain the title.

New Examination Hall built.

In the year 1908 the Examination Hall on the Victoria Embankment was sold, and a freehold site in Queen Square, Bloomsbury, was subsequently purchased. Upon this site a new Examination Hall has been built by the two Colleges, and since May 1912 the Examinations of the Conjoint Board have been conducted in this building.

SECT. XIV.—EXAMINATION AND ADMISSION OF MEMBERS.

1. No person under the age of Twenty-one years shall become a Member of the College nor unless and until he shall have passed the Examinations for Qualifications to be registered under the Medical Act, held by the Examining Board for the time being constituted under the Scheme and Regulations approved and adopted by the Royal College of Physicians of London on March 12th, 1883, and by the College on April 29th, 1883 (herein called the Joint Examinations), and complied with the conditions relating thereto contained in the said Scheme and Regulations, or such conditions as may be agreed upon between the College of Physicians and the College for the time being. Nothing contained in this Section shall diminish or affect the right of any person who shall have commenced professional study before the 1st of October, 1884, to be examined for and to receive the Diploma of Member of the College; but such right, where it exists, shall remain and continue, to all intents and purposes, as if this Bye-Law had not been enacted.

2. The Diploma of Member shall be in such Form as the Council may from time to time judge proper.

3. The Seal of the College shall be affixed to the Diploma of every Member of the College.

4. Every person, prior to his admission as a Member of the College, shall, in the presence of an Officer of the College, make and subscribe his name to the following Declaration: —

"I, A. B., do solemnly and sincerely declare, that, while a Member of the Royal College of Surgeons of England, I will observe the Bye-Laws thereof: that I will obey every lawful Summons issued by order of the Council of the said College, having no reasonable excuse to the contrary: and that I will demean myself honourably in the practice of my Profession; and to the utmost of my power maintain the dignity and welfare of the College."

5. Every person, prior to his admission as a Member, shall subscribe his name to a Copy of the Bye-Laws of the College, in testimony of his having engaged himself to the observance thereof.

6. The fee for the Diploma of Member, exclusive of the fees payable for the Licence of the Royal College of Physicians of London under the Scheme and Regulations for the Joint Examinations, shall be such sum not exceeding Twenty Guineas and shall be payable in such manner and at such times as the Council from time to time direct, and in addition thereto there shall be paid the Stamp Duty, if any, on such Diploma and such reasonable fees for and in case of re-examination as shall be in like manner directed.

7. If the Court of Examiners shall find any circumstance in the Character, Conduct, or mode of Practice of any Candidate for Examination which in their opinion renders such Candidate unfit to be admitted a Member of the College, the said Court shall have the power of declining to examine him until the opinion of the Council shall have been taken thereon.

SECT. XV.—RIGHTS OF FELLOWS AND MEMBERS.

The Council will, at all times, protect and defend every Fellow and Member of the College who may be disturbed in the exercise and enjoyment of the Rights, Privileges, Exemptions, and Immunities, acquired by him as a Fellow and Member or Member thereof.

2. Should any Fellow or Member of the College be convicted of any Criminal Offence, or have his name removed from the Medical Register by the General Medical Council under Section XXIX. of the Medical Act of 1858, the Council of the College may, if they should consider the offence of which he shall have been so convicted, or for which his name shall have been so removed, to be of such a nature as to render him unfit to remain a Fellow and Member or a Member of the College, remove such Fellow or Member by resolution to that effect, from being a Fellow and Member or a Member of the College.

3. Any Fellow or Member who shall have been removed by Resolution of the Council as aforesaid shall thereby forfeit all his rights and privileges as a Fellow and Member or a Member of the College; and his Diplomas or Diploma shall thereupon be void and shall become the property of the College, and be delivered up by such Fellow or Member to the College on demand, provided that if at any subsequent time the Council of the College by Resolution, and subject to such conditions as they may think proper, rescind any Resolution which may have been passed under any of the preceding Bye-Laws for removing any person from being a Fellow and Member or Member of the College, such rescinding of the former Resolution shall have the effect of restoring such person to the Fellowship or Membership of the College, and such person shall, notwithstanding such removal or forfeiture as aforesaid, but subject to such conditions as the Council may in the particular case see fit to impose, be restored to his rights and privileges as a Fellow and Member or a Member of the College.

SECT. XVII.—MEETINGS OF FELLOWS AND MEMBERS.

And every Fellow or Member of the College who shall thereupon be removed as aforesaid shall forfeit all his rights and privileges as a Fellow and Member or a Member thereof.

2. All meetings convened by or under the authority of the President or Council of the College, as well for general business as for the delivery of Orations or Lectures, or for the distribution of Prizes, shall be under the control and direction of the President or other Member of the Council presiding at such Meeting. And any Fellow or Member of the College who shall interrupt, impede, or interfere with the proceedings at any such Meeting, or shall propose any matter for discussion or debate without the leave of the President or other person so presiding, shall, upon being required by the President or other person so presiding, immediately withdraw from such Meeting; and shall be moreover liable to be restrained and excluded by the Council from attending any Orations and Lectures at the Theatre, and from any use of or admission to the Library and Museum, and to be suspended from any or all other privileges which he may have as a Fellow and Member or a Member of the College, for any such period as the Council may adjudge. HUNTERIAN ORATION.

In the year 1813 Dr. Matthew Baillie and Sir Everard Home, Bart., Executors of John Hunter, "being desirous of showing a lasting mark of respect to the memory of the late Mr. John Hunter," gave to the College the sum of £1684 4*s.* 4*d.* Three per cent Consolidated Bank Annuities for the endowment of an annual Oration, to be called the Hunterian Oration, and to be delivered in the Theatre of the College on the 14th of February, the Birthday of John Hunter, by the Master, or one of the Governors for the time being, or such other Member of the Court of Assistants as should be appointed by the Master and Governors or any two of them—such Oration to be expressive of the merits in Comparative Anatomy, Physiology, and Surgery, not only of John Hunter, but also of all such persons, as should be from time to time deceased, whose labours have contributed to the improvement or extension of Surgical Science.

The Endowment was accepted by the College under a Deed of Trust dated the 9th October 1813, containing, amongst others, the following conditions:—That the Fund should be vested in the names of three Members of the Court of Assistants; that £10, part of the interest accruing from the Fund, should be given to the Orator; and that the remainder of the interest should be expended in providing a Dinner, on the day of the delivery of the Oration, for the Members of the Court of Assistants and such other persons as the Master and Governors for the time being should think proper to invite.

In 1853, after consultation with the representatives of the founders of the Trust, it was decided that the Oration should in future be delivered biennially instead of annually.

The fund was re-invested in 1900, and at the present time consists of £1728 12*s.* 3*d.* India Three per Cent. Stock.

ARRIS AND GALE LECTURES.

The Arris Lectures were founded in 1646 by Mr. Edward Arris, a Member of the Company of Barbers and Surgeons, of which he became Master in 1651. He was also an Alderman of the City of London in that year. He died on the 28th May 1676. His portrait in one picture with a portrait of Sir Charles Scarborough, who was appointed to deliver the Arris Lectures in 1649, is in the possession of the Barbers' Company.

From the Minute Books of the Company of Barbers and Surgeons it appears that on the 24th March 1646 Mr. Edward Arris paid to the Company a sum of £300 "for the use of the new publique Anatomy." This sum was subsequently repaid to Mr. Arris, and in lieu thereof he settled upon the Company an annuity of £30, which shortly before his death he redeemed by the payment of £510. By the Act of Parliament of the 18th George II (1745) for dissolving the Union between the Barbers and Surgeons this sum of £510 was given and vested in the Company of Surgeons then incorporated, and upon the dissolution of that Company became vested in the College. The fund now consists of £426 14*s.* 6*d.* Metropolitan Consolidated Three per Cent. Stock.

In the final settlement of the Trust no conditions appear to have been imposed save an understanding that the Anatomy Lectures of the Company were to be continued. By an Act of Parliament passed in 1540 the Company were entitled to claim four bodies annually of persons executed for felony, and to make use of them for the study of Anatomy. The bodies were dissected, and lectures on the muscles and other subjects were given. The Surgeons of the Company were required to attend these lectures and demonstrations, which were called "Public Anatomies." The intention of Mr. Arris was to assist the Company in this work, and the lecturers appointed under this foundation were at first called "Readers of the Muscular Lecture."

Under the Company of Surgeons the Arris Lectures were from 1753 to 1766 delivered by the Masters of Anatomy, of whom the first to be appointed were Percivall Pott and John Hunter. In 1767 the office of Professor of Anatomy was created, and the Arris Lectures were assigned to him.

The Gale Lectures were founded by Mr. John Gale of Bushey, a Member of the Company of Barbers and Surgeons, who, by his Will, dated 13th August 1655, left to the Company an Annuity of £16, payable out of the rents of certain premises on Snow Hill in the City of London, for one Anatomy Lecture in every year to be called Gale's Anatomy.

This Annuity, together with the Arris Bequest, was by the Act of Parliament of 1745 vested in the Company of Surgeons, and upon the dissolution of that Company became vested in the College. In pursuance of Acts of Parliament passed in the 35th and 44th years of George III for the improvement of Snow Hill, the Rent Charge of £16 per annum was purchased by the City of London for the sum of £432, which sum, in accordance with the directions of those Acts, was invested in the name of the Accountant General of the Court of Chancery, until the same shall again be invested in some Real Estate, and the same was laid out in the purchase of £689 16*s.* 5*d.* Consolidated Bank Annuities (re-invested in £703 0*s.* 1*d.* 2½ per Cent. Consols in 1891), the interest thereof being paid to the College.

The earliest record of a lecture under this Trust is dated 30th June 1698, when it was "ordered that there be an Anatomy Lecture called Gale's Anatomy," and Dr. Havers, well known for his description of the canals in bone, since called Haversian, was appointed the first Reader. The Lecture was afterwards called the Osteology Lecture.

Under the Company of Surgeons the Lecture was at first allotted to the senior Master of Anatomy, and afterwards to the Professor of Anatomy.

At the beginning of the Nineteenth Century, lectures were for a time suspended at the College owing to building operations, but were resumed in 1810. It was then determined that six lectures should be delivered annually under the Arris and Gale Trusts. The lectures were no longer distinguished as "muscular" and "osteological," but were united into one course delivered by a Professor of Anatomy and Surgery. In 1857 the title of the lecturer was altered to Professor of Human Anatomy and Surgery, and in 1868 to Arris and Gale Lecturer. In 1864 the number of lectures was reduced to three. Honorarium for the three lectures, the amount of the dividends received from the Arris Bequest and Gale Annuity—about £29.

ERASMUS WILSON LECTURES.

With the object of promoting the study of the Pathology together with the Anatomy and Physiology, human and comparative, of the Skin and its Appendages, the late Sir Erasmus Wilson gave to the College the sum of £5000 New Three per cent. Consols, under a Deed of Trust, dated the 8th July 1869, to found and endow a Professorship of Dermatology. The Council appointed Sir Erasmus Wilson to the Professorship, and during the period 1870–78 he delivered six lectures annually, and presented to the Museum a large collection of casts and models used in illustration of his lectures.

In 1879 certain alterations in the terms of the Trust were effected with the approval of the Founder, providing that the income derived from the Fund should be devoted to the promotion of original researches by lectures delivered at the College, the number of such lectures not to exceed three in any one year, and to be given by one or more persons to be called Erasmus Wilson Professors of Pathology.

In 1881 further alterations were thought desirable, and under a new Deed of Trust, dated the 13th April 1882, it is now provided that the income of the Fund shall be appropriated in part towards the payment of the salary of a Pathological Curator of the Museum, and in part for the payment of Lectures on the Pathological contents of the Museum to be delivered by the Pathological Curator or some other person appointed for the purpose with the title of Erasmus Wilson Lecturer. Three lectures were delivered annually from 1882 to 1908. In July 1908 it was decided to institute a series of Lectures or Demonstrations on advanced Surgical Pathology, illustrated by specimens in the Museum, and the Erasmus Wilson Lectures now form part of this Series. Six Demonstrations are given annually. Honorarium £30.

In 1900 the fund was re-invested in £4731 13*s*. Metropolitan Consolidated Three per Cent. Stock, and this amount has since been increased to £5250 by the investment of an unexpended income balance accumulated mainly in the early years of the Trust.

BRADSHAW LECTURE.

The Bradshaw Lecture was founded in memory of her husband by the late Mrs. Sally Hall Bradshaw, widow of Dr. William Wood Bradshaw, M.A.Oxon., D.C.L., LL.D., a Fellow of the College for many years in practice at Reading. She bequeathed to the College by Will, dated 6th September 1875 and proved 26th August 1880, a sum of £1000 Three per Cent. Consols, the income thereof to be expended upon a lecture on Surgery to be called "The Bradshaw Lecture," and to be delivered annually on the 18th August, the anniversary of Dr. Bradshaw's death.

In 1882 an Order of Administration of the Bequest was obtained from the Charity Commissioners, which provided that the Lecture should be delivered on the 18th day of August, or on such other day as might be expressly substituted in each year for that day by the President, and a sum of £900 Three per Cent. Consols was transferred to the College in satisfaction of the Bequest. The fund was re-invested in 1900, and now consists of £851 14*s.* 3*d.* Metropolitan Consolidated Three per Cent. Stock. Honorarium of Lecturer, about £24.

TRIENNIAL PRIZE

AND

JOHN HUNTER MEDAL.

This Prize was founded by the Court of Assistants in the year 1820, and was first offered for competition in 1822. The honorarium, which is provided from the funds of the College, at first amounted to Thirty Pounds, but in 1840 was increased to Fifty Guineas.

In 1864 a life-size statue of John Hunter by H. Weekes, R.A., was erected in the Museum of the College by public subscription, and with the residue of the subscriptions the Statue Committee founded the John Hunter Medal, which in the year 1867 they entrusted to the College upon the following conditions, viz. :—

"That the Medal be awarded to the Author of the Dissertation to which the Collegial Triennial Prize shall from time to time be adjudged on condition that the College, having entrusted to it the custody of the Medal dies for ever and to be used only for the aforesaid purpose, do promise and engage to have such Medal struck at its own proper cost."

The Prize now consists of the John Hunter Medal executed in Gold to the value of Fifty Guineas, or, at the option of the successful Author of the Dissertation, of the said Medal executed in Bronze with an honorarium of Fifty Pounds.

BLANE MEDALS.

This Medal was founded by Sir Gilbert Blane, Bart., F.R.S., a distinguished physician, best known for the sanitary reforms which he effected in the Navy, and the success of the measures which he introduced for the prevention of scurvy.

Under a Deed of Trust, dated the 13th March 1830, he transferred to the College the sum of £300 three per Cent. Consolidated Bank Annuities to provide for two Gold Medals to be conferred once in every two years on two Medical Officers of the Royal Navy "who in the time required shall have delivered to the proper office Journals evincing the most distinguished proofs of skill, diligence, humanity, and learning in the exercise of their professional duties." The Journals were to be submitted for adjudication to the President of the Royal College of Physicians of London, the President of the Royal College of Surgeons of England, and the Senior Medical Commissioner of the Royal Navy (Director-General of the Medical Department of the Navy).

In 1913, in pursuance of authority given to them under the Deed, the Presidents of the Colleges and the Director-General of the Medical Department of the Navy decided, with the approval of the Lords of the Admiralty, to make certain alterations in the Regulations for the award of the Medals, and it is now provided "that one Medal be awarded annually to the Medical Officer who obtains the highest aggregate marks at the examination for promotion to the rank of Staff Surgeon, now held twice a year in connection with the Courses at the Medical School of the Royal Naval College, Greenwich—the award to be subject to the approval of the Presidents of the Colleges of Physicians and Surgeons respectively, and the Director General of the Medical Department of the Navy."

The fund has been re-invested, and at the present time consists of £300 Metropolitan Consolidated $3\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. Stock.

I. Annual Meeting of Fellows and Members.

This Meeting was held on Thursday, the 19th November, 1914, at 3 o'clock P.M.

The Chair was taken by the President, Sir W. Watson Cheyne, Bt. Thirteen Fellows, of whom seven were Members of the Council, and 41 Members attended the meeting.

The President placed before the meeting the Report of the Council for the period from the 1st August 1913 to the 1st August 1914, copies of which had been circulated to 951 Fellows and 2629 Members, and made a statement regarding some of the matters which had come under the consideration of the Council during the year.

The following resolution, moved by Sir Victor Horsley, F.R.S., F.R.C.S., and seconded by Mr. George Jones, M.B., M.R.C.S., was carried nem. con. (42 voting):—

> That this thirtieth Annual Meeting of Fellows and Members again affirms the desirability of admitting Members to direct representation on the Council of the College, which, as now constituted, only represents those Members who also hold the Fellowship; and that it does so, in order that the constitution of the Council of the Royal College of Surgeons of England shall be in keeping with modern ideas of true representation.

This resolution was reported to the Council at their meeting in December, and in reference thereto the following reply was adopted:—

> That, as the matter referred to in the resolution carried at the Annual Meeting of Fellows and Members was very fully considered by the Council so recently as March of this year, the Council see no advantage in re-opening the discussion at the present time.

II. The Scarcity of "Subjects."

The difficulty of obtaining an adequate supply of "subjects" for dissection is a matter which has again come under the consideration of the Council.

Early in the year a conference was held at the College with representatives of the Licensed Teachers of Anatomy in London, who explained that their efforts to induce the Government Authorities to take action in the matter had been unsuccessful, and suggested that a letter from the Council of the Royal College of Surgeons of England might have more effect.

In accordance with this suggestion, the President, by request of the Council, addressed the following letter to the Secretary of State for the Home Department:—

12th February, 1915.

Sir,

The Council of the Royal College of Surgeons of England desire to urge upon your consideration a matter which they believe to be of pressing importance at the present time.

It will be within your recollection that on December 11th, 1912, a deputation, including representatives from nearly all the Universities and Colleges in Great Britain and Ireland concerned with the teaching of Medicine and Surgery, waited upon you at the House of Commons to lay before you certain facts in connexion with the greatly reduced and diminishing supply of "subjects" for the teaching of Anatomy and Operative Surgery.

The members of the deputation were encouraged to think that the importance of the question raised by them was recognised and appreciated, and the Council understand that further consideration was given to it on March 5th, 1913, when representatives of the Home Office, the Local Government Board, the Board of Education, and the Scottish Office, under the Chairmanship of Sir William Byrne, received in conference five members of the "Anatomical Supply Committee."

At that conference several practical suggestions were made, and it is understood that the proposal which found most favour was one for the authorisation of a notification fee for every unclaimed body available for anatomical and surgical instruction. This fee was to be paid by the Treasury, provided it were applied for by the notifier, and to be recovered from the Medical School receiving the body, or, in the case of the Medical Schools of London, from the "Anatomical Committee," to which is entrusted the supply of bodies to those schools.

It was hoped that steps would be taken to give effect to this scheme, which the Licensed Teachers of Anatomy in London are, as the Council are informed, practically unanimous in thinking the one most likely to help them. No action, however, appears to have been taken, and in the meantime the difficulty of obtaining an adequate supply of bodies for dissection remains, and practical instruction in operative surgery is seriously restricted.

In these circumstances the Council of the Royal College of Surgeons venture to express the earnest hope that you may find it possible to give early attention to this matter, and to take steps with a view to removing the difficulties which have arisen in obtaining the supply which is essential for the proper training of medical students in anatomy and surgery.

Although there are many matters of urgent importance claiming the attention of His Majesty's Ministers, the Council feel that the present time, when the need for Medical Officers in the Navy and Army adequately trained as operating surgeons is so great, is opportune for attempting to deal with this difficult problem, by the institution of a notification fee, as proposed at the conference on March 5th, 1913, without or with some modification of the Act 2 and 3 William IV, Cap. 75, commonly known as the "Anatomy Act."

I am, Sir,

Your obedient Servant,

W. WATSON CHEYNE,
President.

To the Right Hon. R. McKenna, M.P.,
Secretary of State for the Home Department.

A note has been received from the Home Secretary acknowledging the receipt of the President's letter, and stating that it will receive his consideration.

III. Professional Secrecy and Criminal Abortion.

The difficult question as to what are the duties of a medical man, who, when in professional attendance upon a patient, becomes aware that an illegal operation has been performed, was raised in the following communication from the Director of Public Prosecutions :—

Whitehall, London, S.W.,
14th December, 1914.

Dear Sir,

Medical Etiquette and Criminal Abortion.

I am forwarding, for your information, a transcript of a charge addressed by Avory, J. to a Grand Jury at the last Birmingham Assizes, in which that learned Judge expresses a very clear opinion as to what are the duties of medical men who, when in professional attendance on patients, become aware that a crime has been committed, and I venture to hope that the learned Judge's views, as he has expressed them, may meet with the concurrence and approval of your Council.

I am, dear Sir,

Faithfully yours,

Charles W. Matthews.

The Registrar,
Royal College of Surgeons,
Lincoln's Inn Fields, W.C.

BIRMINGHAM AUTUMN ASSIZES,
1st December, 1914.

Observations of Mr. JUSTICE AVORY in his charge to the Grand Jury, on the case of ANNIE HODGKISS.

The Learned Judge said : "This woman has been committed on the Coroner's inquisition on a charge of murder. The Magistrates who have investigated the case have dismissed the charge. The deceased woman, according to the evidence, clearly died as the result of an illegal operation. Three medical men in succession attended her, and to one at least she confided the name of the person who performed the act. No information was given to the Police or the Authorities, and the woman died without any deposition being taken or without any statement being made by her on her death-bed which could be used in a Court of Law. With the exception of a letter, which was found among deceased's papers, apparently making an appointment with the accused woman, there is absolutely no evidence against this accused person of having performed any operation upon the deceased woman, and the Magistrates, taking that view, dismissed the charge. I need not remind you that any statement made by the deceased woman to a medical man is not evidence in a Court of Law. I can see no evidence, as the case now stands, which will justify you in finding a true bill against the prisoner for murder. The law provides that in the case of any person who is seriously ill, and who, in the opinion of a medical man, is not likely to recover, the evidence of such a person may be taken by a Justice of the Peace. Under circumstances like those in the present case, I cannot doubt that it is the duty of the medical man to communicate with the Police, or with the Authorities, in order that one or other of those steps may be taken for the purpose of assisting in the administration of justice. No one would wish to see disturbed the confidential relation which exists, and which must exist, between the medical man and his patient in order that the medical man may properly discharge his duty towards his patient; but there are cases, of which it appears to me that this was one, where the desire to preserve that confidence must be subordinated to the duty which is cast upon every good citizen to assist in the investigation of a serious crime such as is imputed to this woman. In consequence of no information having been given, it appears to me that there is no evidence whatever upon which this woman can properly be put upon her trial.

I have been moved to make these observations because it has been brought to my notice that an opinion, to which I was a party some twenty years ago, when I was at the bar, has been either misunderstood or misrepresented in a text-book of medical ethics, and I am anxious to remove any such misunderstanding if it exists.

It may be the moral duty of the medical man, even in cases where the patient is not dying, or not unlikely to recover, to communicate with the Authorities when he sees good reason to believe that a criminal offence has been committed. However that may be, I cannot doubt that in such a case as the present, where the woman was, in the opinion of the medical man, likely to die, and, therefore, her evidence was likely to be lost, it was his duty, and that someone of those gentlemen ought to have done it in this case."

To this communication the Council sent the following reply :—

Sir,

The Council have given their careful consideration to the remarks addressed by Mr. Justice Avory to the Grand Jury at the Birmingham Assizes, which you communicated to them in your letter of the 14th December last.

The Council feel that it is no part of their duty to express concurrence with, or approval of, opinions which may from time to time be expressed by Judges upon matters of professional duty, more especially when, as in this case, such expressions of opinion are not the basis of a judicial decision.

The question raised is one of great delicacy and difficulty. The relationship between a medical practitioner and his patient has never been defined by this College. It has, however, always been recognised that complete confidence between the medical practitioner and his patient is essential in the treatment of disease. Such confidence, fortunately, nearly always exists at the present time, and is of incalculable advantage to the patient and the public,

In a matter of honour and conscience no written rules could have any binding effect. They could never be enforced, and ultimately the conduct of the medical practitioner must be decided by his own conscience and his sense of duty to the patient and to the State.

Having regard to the frequency with which medical practitioners are concerned in criminal cases, and to the rarity of any complaints as to their conduct in such matters, the Council consider that it is unnecessary, and would be inexpedient, to attempt to frame any rules for the guidance of Fellows and Members of the College on such questions. The Council believe that in the future, as in the past, the course to be taken can safely be left to the medical practitioner.

I am, Sir,
Your obedient Servant,
S. Forrest Cowell,
Secretary.

To Sir Charles W. Matthews, K.C.B.,
Director of Public Prosecutions.

IV. Removal of Members.

The name of Dhanpat Rai, who obtained his Diploma in 1901, has been removed from the list of Members of the College under Clause 1, Section XVI. of the Bye-Laws in consequence of his having been adjudged by the Council to have been guilty of disgraceful conduct in a professional respect in relation to advertisements inserted by him in local newspapers in India.

Mr. Rai failed to submit any reply to letters calling upon him to show cause why he should not be removed from being a Member of the College.

In addition to the advertisements, to which the attention of the Council was first called in 1913, charges of misconduct were also laid before the Council in documents received, through the General Medical Council, from the Revenue Secretary to the Government, Punjab. This communication contained a copy of a statement, made by Mr. Dhanpat Rai in a murder case, described in the judgment of the Court as utterly unreliable.

The name of Alfred Bertie Kramer, who obtained his Diploma in 1911, has been removed from the list of Members of the College under Clause 2, Section XVI. of the Bye-Laws, having previously been removed from the Medical Register by order of the General Medical Council upon the grounds stated in the following charge:—

> "That being a registered medical practitioner you have systematically canvassed for patients by visits made personally and by a Mrs. Saunt on your behalf to persons in the village of Bulwick, Northamptonshire, who were patients of Mr. Arthur Samuel Stokes.
> "And that in relation thereto you have been guilty of infamous conduct in a professional respect."

V. Restoration to Membership.

Mr. Maurice Edmund Arnold Wallis, who was removed from being a Member of the College in 1911 in consequence of his association with an institute which systematically advertised for the purpose of procuring patients for an unqualified person, has been restored to the Membership.

In support of his application for restoration Mr. Wallis submitted letters from two medical men and a solicitor personally acquainted with him.

VI. Central Midwives Board.

Mr. C. H. Golding-Bird, who has been re-appointed a member of the Central Midwives Board under Section 3 of the Midwives Act, submits the following report of the proceedings of the Board:—

Mr. President and Gentlemen,

The Central Midwives' Board has during the past year (1914) pursued an even course, but still has to meet from time to time those difficulties which it had hoped, long ere this, to have had removed from its path by a New Midwives Act; but such an aid to its work seems, under existing circumstances, more than ever postponed.

In my last report which I had the honour of submitting to the Council, I referred to complaints received from certain districts of the frequency of midwifery practice being carried on by uncertified women, and mentioned that the Board had laid the matter before the Privy Council. I am now in a position to state the steps taken by the Privy Council, in consequence of the Board's communication. The Privy Council communicated with the Carnarvonshire County Council, from one of whose districts complaints had been received; but the reply returned seemed to justify the action of the unqualified women. The Privy Council thereupon laid the matter before the National Health Insurance Commissioners, and suggested that "a husband to whom Maternity Benefit is given and who causes his wife to be attended in her confinement by an uncertified midwife might be held to have rendered himself liable to the punishment provided by Section 19 of the Act" (i. e. the National Insurance Act) "on the ground that he has neglected or refused to make adequate provision to the best of his power for the maintenance and care of his wife during her confinement." The National Health Insurance Joint Committee replied that legally speaking that might be so, but that it would be extremely difficult to obtain a conviction, and if a conviction were obtained it was probable that the Court would inflict such a light penalty that the object of the prosecution would be defeated. This was the rather inconclusive termination of the correspondence.

The Board, as I have mentioned in a previous report, has no jurisdiction over uncertified women, and therefore can only look to outside authorities to put a check upon their practices.

On April 1st, 1914, a regulation of the Local Government Board, making the notification of Ophthalmia Neonatorum compulsory throughout England and Wales, came into force, and no one will deny that this is a step in the right direction. When the new order came before the Central Midwives Board, this body, however, felt it its duty to offer some criticisms upon one or two of the regulations it contained. The fact that the midwives would in future have to notify the disease, not only under the rules of their own Board, but also under this new regulation, rendered it at least probable that some of them might get into trouble by thinking one notification—as hitherto—was sufficient; but it was felt that this was but a minor difficulty. It was considered, however, far more serious that, by the wording of the new regulation, the responsibility of diagnosis seemed to be transferred to the midwife—a responsibility never contemplated by the Midwives Board. The Chairman, Sir Francis Champneys, on behalf of the Board, addressed a letter to the Local Government Board, which from its importance and the great interest taken by all concerned in checking this terrible disease I beg to be allowed to transcribe in extenso :—

Sir,—

With reference to our conversation this afternoon, the points which our Board wishes to bring before you are mainly the following :—

1. That the duty of midwives under the Rules of the Central Midwives Board provides for the summoning of medical help in the case of "Inflammation of, or discharge from, the eyes, however slight" (Rule E. 20 (5)).
   Your Order, on the contrary, defines "Ophthalmia Neonatorum" as a "purulent discharge."
2. That the Rules of the Central Midwives Board do not require any opinion or diagnosis on the part of the midwife as to the cause of the condition of the eyes, whereas your Order speaks of her "having reasonable grounds for supposing that a child . . . . . is suffering from Ophthalmia Neonatorum."

In our opinion, to wait for a "purulent discharge" is to court blindness; to ask a midwife to form an opinion as to the nature of an inflammation of the eye is directly contrary to the view expressed in our Rules, and enforced in our Penal Proceedings—namely, that it is not her duty in such a case to think but to observe and to act immediately.

3. A midwife who obeys the Rules of the Central Midwives Board will seldom see purulent discharge before a doctor is in attendance, and, moreover, she will have notified calling in medical help to the Local Supervising Authority (Rule E. 21 (1) (a)).

The Board think that the Order is liable to confuse her mind, and that it is highly desirable that the rules of the Central Midwives Board and the Order of the Local Government Board should harmonise.

Yours faithfully,

(Signed) F. H. CHAMPNEYS,
Chairman.

F. J. WILLIS, Esq.,
Local Government Board,
Whitehall, S.W.

To this letter a courteous reply was received to the effect that the suggestions it contained would receive due consideration in any fresh regulations issued on the subject.

The Statistics for the year 1914 are as follows:—

No. of Board Meetings		22
No. of Names on Midwives Roll to December 31.		38,675
No. passed Examination during year		2,134
Penal Cases:
Struck off	95
Sentence postponed	14
Censured	10
Cautioned	8
Cases adjourned	5
No action taken	7
Died before hearing	1
	—	140
No. who resigned voluntarily		78
No. of Recognised Training Schools		80
No. of Recognised Teachers		101
No. of registered Medical Practitioners approved for practical training		17
No. of Midwives approved for practical training.		111

The number of penal cases is considerably more than in 1913, viz. 140 as against 96; but for reasons fully set forth in my last report, this is no matter for regret, nor should this increase be taken as any disparagement of the certified midwives as a body. Taken all round, the percentage of "passes" at the Board's examinations is decidedly good, for the failures vary only between 16 % and 17 %, an argument in favour of the sound teaching that the women get, for the examination is both thorough and of high standard. During the year a request was received by the Board amounting in effect to one for rendering the examination easier; but the Board would not listen to any suggestion for lowering its standard. Every facility is given for frequent examinations to be held, as far as is possible and judicious; thus in each of the two great centres of Birmingham and Bristol six examinations are held annually.

The Board has for some time contemplated concentrating, in populous areas as in London, the teaching (i. e. lecturing) centres, and by thus increasing the number of the candidates at each centre, thereby rendering the lectureships, from a remunerative point, acceptable to lecturers of the highest standing. Hence the following resolutions were passed in April last:—

> "That it is desirable that the Lectures in London and the London District should be given in convenient centres and by experienced Lecturers."
> "That notice accordingly be given to the Lecturers in London and the London District, not attached to Institutions, that the recognition of Lectures in London and the District is under consideration, and that it may not be renewed on its expiry on March 31, 1915."

The Board will doubtless in due time give effect to these resolutions, which it believes to be beneficial to the interests and education of its Midwives.

There has been during the last year a large number of cases brought before the Board of women falsifying their birth certificates (and in one case the marriage certificate), generally with the object of altering the applicant's age. This has been a matter of great surprise and regret, for the women are not of a class nor of the understanding in which such dealings might be considered possible. Though compelled to treat such cases seriously, the Board is yet assured that the offence is committed largely from a lack of appreciation of the sacredness of a public document, and of the serious character of the offence. In addition, therefore, to taking action in each case brought before it, the Board has memorialized the various licensed Midwife-Teachers requesting them to keep close observation on all documents presented by candidates, and to impress upon these women the risks they are running in thus acting criminally, albeit largely through ignorance of the gravity of the offence.

The steady annual increase in the number of midwives admitted upon the Roll does not adequately represent an increase in numbers of practising women for the purposes of carrying out the beneficent intentions of the Midwives Act; for it appears by the latest statistics that only 38 per cent. of those that pass the Examination declare their intention of practising as Midwives. No doubt many are nurses who desire to hold the Board's diploma, so as to be ready to act should their future professional position require them to do so; but another, and possibly more powerful, reason would appear to be, at least in rural districts, that there is not maternity work enough to afford the midwives a livelihood. This is a serious obstruction to the working of the Act, and it is difficult to see how it is to be overcome. One way, however, offers a solution, and that is the increase, and universal adoption throughout the country, of Local Nursing Associations on provident lines; for then the midwife is not solely dependant upon her maternity work for her living; whilst the rural districts are thereby well looked after both in sickness as well as in those matters for which the Board is responsible. In this connection I may quote the remarks of the Secretary of the Board in his last report. Giving instances of the number of midwives practising in different parts of the country, he says:—"The Isle of Ely returned no midwives as having notified intention to practise during 1913; Rutland returned 1; and Merioneth 3. On the other hand, 58 were returned as practising in Cambridgeshire and 89 in Montgomery. These are specimens of other instances, and it seems impossible to assign any reason for such variations in adjacent Counties of similar type and approximate population, except the greater efficiency of the Local Supervising Authority in some cases as compared with others."

The National Insurance Act has done something to better the condition of the poorer class of midwives as well as that of their patients; and the report of the County Medical Officer of Health for Northamptonshire, will, in this connection, be read with interest. He says, speaking of the poorer class of midwives, i. e. the "untrained" or bona fide women on the Roll:—

"The number of untrained midwives is decreasing in the County, and in some instances they will be very hard to replace, as there is not a living to be obtained from Midwifery alone in the smaller villages. Though not used to technical terms, it astonishes me very often the amount of practical knowledge they possess and the self-reliance they show. Most of them always welcome being shown and told better methods than their own, though, of course, some of them are quite illiterate and think the Midwives Act all fuss, but they nevertheless endeavour to comply with the rules. In order to keep the midwives up to a satisfactory standard of cleanliness in their work it is necessary to constantly visit them, and I have often been surprised at the remissness of some of the better-trained midwives unless one is regularly looking after them.

"The untrained Midwives now begin to understand that they are recognised by the State, and, as such, have a duty to perform.

They certainly have a good deal of self-esteem, and it is a pleasure to see the continued improvement both in their personal cleanliness and surroundings.

* * * * * * *

"The influence of the Insurance Act on the Midwives' work has in most cases been an advantage. Their fees have been raised, and there is not the uncertainty in their obtaining payment as formerly existed. I have found in a district here and there that the doctor has raised his fee to £2 2*s*. when called in to the assistance of the midwife."

Instances of "covering" by Doctors of untrained women who are not upon the Roll still come, from time to time, under the cognisance of the Board; but it has no power to deal with women who are not upon the Roll. The practice of employing unlicensed women to attend a confinement where the doctor is present can have no exception taken to it; nor where, the doctor having been previously engaged, some unavoidable circumstances occasionally cause his too late arrival; but the evil of the employment of these women (not to say its illegality) is where, though nominally retained to attend the confinement, the doctor gives instructions that he is only to be called in case of emergency arising—and hence in many cases never sees the patient either at the actual confinement or during the puerperium. It rests with members of the medical profession to remedy this state of things.

The question of the payment of medical men who respond to the call of a midwife, as required under the Rules, still remains undecided, and must so remain till the passing of a new Midwives' Act. But its temporary solution, at least in large centres, is possible, as is shown in both Liverpool and Manchester, where Schemes differing from each other are in force, and sufficient time has elapsed to prove their efficacy, not only in providing a fee for the doctor, but of assuring professional attendance for the poor maternity cases, when the midwife finds it necessary to send out her official notice of requiring medical help.

I cannot close this report without drawing attention to the admirable and exhaustive essay on the work of the Central Midwives' Board from its commencement, read by its Chairman, Sir Francis Champneys, before the Obstetrical and Gynæcological Society of Glasgow in April last and published in the 'Glasgow Medical Journal' of July 1914. It is well worth perusal by anyone interested in the subject.

Allow me, Mr. President and Gentlemen, to thank you once more for having entrusted me, during the past year, with the responsibility of representing your College on the Central Midwives' Board.

I have the honour to remain,

Your obedient servant,

C. H. GOLDING-BIRD.

XI. Special Regulations during the War.

An additional Final Examination was held by the Conjoint Examining Board in September 1914 to enable such candidates as were eligible to obtain their diploma at an early date, if they could attain the necessary standard.

With this end in view the following conditions were laid down :—

1. Candidates who were referred at the July Examination for three months may be admitted to the September Examination without producing further certificates.

2. Candidates who were referred at the April Examination for six months may be admitted to the September Examination on production of a certificate of three months' additional study.

3. Candidates who would complete their curriculum of study in October may be admitted to the September Examination.

4. Candidates who have completed the special courses relating to Midwifery and Diseases of Women may present themselves for the examination in those subjects under the conditions in force before the 1st May 1907, i. e. without having necessarily completed the whole of the curriculum. (In all cases the conditions of the curriculum must be fulfilled before the candidate can complete the Final Examination.)

5. Candidates who have complied with the conditions of study required for a degree in Medicine of a British University and are otherwise eligible, may present themselves for the Final Examination of the Board. (This applies specially to a student of the University of London who has completed a five years' curriculum but who may have studied during part of the first year elsewhere than at an Institution recognised by this Board.)

6. Candidates referred at the First or Second Examinations in July may present themselves for re-examinations in September at the quarterly Examinations without certificates of additional study.

The following temporary regulations were also made:—

1. That time spent as Assistant on active service in one of His Majesty's Ships or in a Naval or Military Hospital, or any Hospital utilised by the Naval and Military authorities not exceeding six months be allowed to count for the equivalent period of Medical and Surgical Hospital practice and for three months each of the required period of Medical Clinical Clerkship and Surgical Dressership, provided that a satisfactory certificate is produced from the Principal Medical Officer under whom the Assistant serves.

2. That Medical Clinical Clerkships and Surgical Dresserships served before Second Examination in Anatomy and Physiology has been passed, be recognised.

XII. Absence of Members of Council, &c., due to the War.

The President—Sir W. Watson Cheyne, Bt., C.B.—who holds the rank of Surgeon-General in the Royal Navy, was unable to attend the meeting of the Council in June owing to absence abroad on duties assigned to him by the Admiralty.

Leave of absence from the meetings of the Council has been granted to the following Members of the Council during the period of their service abroad with H.M. Forces:—

Sir George H. Makins, K.C.M.G., C.B.	(in France).
Sir Anthony A. Bowlby, K.C.M.G.	Do.
Sir Berkeley Moynihan	Do.
Mr. F. F. Burghard, C.B.	Do.
Mr. C. J. Symonds	(at Malta).
Mr. C. A. Ballance, M.V.O.	Do.
Mr. William Thorburn	Do.

Leave of absence has also been given to Mr. R. H. Burne, the Physiological Curator of the Museum, who is giving his services in connexion with a voluntary hospital near Dunkirk under the French Red Cross.

The following servants of the College have enlisted in the Army for the period of the War :—

Charles Newbold	Hall Porter.
Henry Brightwell	Museum Attendant.
John Hinde	Do. Do.
G. E. Birt	Do. Do.
Ernest Smith	Do. Do.
Sidney Steward	Physiological Attendant.

Sidney Brimscombe, a reservist, who was temporarily employed as an attendant in the Museum, was called up for active service in the Royal Army Medical Corps on the outbreak of the War, and Frederick Balcon, who later on was engaged as a temporary attendant, soon after enlisted in the same Corps.

It is proposed to transfer temporarily Sidney Bithell, pathological attendant in the Museum, to the Army Medical Service for duties in connexion with the transport to this country of pathological specimens from military sources.

XIII. Finance.

Income.

The gross income of the College, exclusive of the income from Trust Funds, amounts to £24,819, and is £2,014 less than in the previous year.

The gross receipts from the Conjoint Examining Board amount to £12,725, and the net receipts to £6,125. There is an increase of £1,147 in examination and diploma fees for the Membership, due to the additional Final Examination held in September. In the other less important sources of income the receipts of the Board are less, and a decrease of £195 in the fees for the Diploma in Public Health, of £26 in the fees for the Diploma in Tropical Medicine and Hygiene, and of £39 in the Incidental Receipts, mainly consisting of sums derived from hire of rooms, has to be noted, as regards the share apportioned to this College in each case.

In the fees for the Fellowship there is an decrease of £2,197, and it is obvious that the urgent need for the services of qualified medical men, occasioned by the War, has had the effect of greatly reducing the number of candidates at the Fellowship Examinations.

In the fees for the Licence in Dental Surgery there is also a decrease, amounting in this case to £690, The reason for this is not so clear, but it is probable that it is in part due to the exceptional circumstances brought about by the War.

Additional investments have made it possible to show an increase of £119 in the receipts from the General Funds in spite of the increased rate of the Income Tax, which, however, is responsible for a decrease of £130 in the receipts from the Erasmus Wilson Bequest.

Expenditure.

The expenditure in respect of revenue for the past year amounts to £19,512, and is £1,912 less than in the previous year.

In the expenditure of the Conjoint Examining Board there is an increase of £202, owing to the larger number of candidates examined at the Third Examination.

In the case of the Fellowship Examinations there is a decrease of £1,460 in the expenses, accounted for by the great falling-off in the number of the candidates examined. If these expenses are deducted from the receipts, a credit balance of £177 will be shown in place of the sum of £809 derived from this source in the previous year.

The cost of the Examinations for the Licence in Dental Surgery is also less, in this case a decrease of £110 being shown, and, if the expenses are deducted from the receipts, a credit balance of £1,371 compared with one of £1,747 in the previous year will be found.

The general working expenses of the College amount to £4,972, to be compared with a total of £4,735 in the previous year, the increase being mainly due to the inclusion this year of certain items for fees, salaries, stationery, printing, advertisements and refreshments, which were formerly separated and classed as Sundry Examination Expenses.

The special expenses of the Museum are £181 less than in the previous year, but, as a sum of £372 for items placed under Extraordinary Expenditure is attributable to the Museum, it cannot be said that the expenditure of this department has been reduced in the year under review.

In the special expenses of the Library there is a decrease amounting to £489, and, whereas in 1913–1914 no less than £1,000 was spent upon books, less than half that amount has been expended for the same purpose in the year just completed. This large reduction in expenditure is mainly due to the difficulty which has arisen, since the outbreak of the War, in obtaining books and periodicals published in Germany.

The Extraordinary Expenditure amounts to £1,006, and of this amount a sum of £631 is for expenditure in connexion with the War, consisting of £262 10*s.* for donations to relief funds, £145 for insurance against aerial bombardment, and £224 10*s.* for allowances to servants on service in the Army.

General Remarks.

The balance on the Revenue Account amounts to £5,306, and is only £100 less than the balance in the previous year. This is a remarkable result for two years, in which the conditions have been so different. The maintenance of this high figure is largely due to the additional pass examination held by the Conjoint Board in September, and, as this helping feature is not likely to recur, an equally favourable result for the ensuing year cannot be looked for.

With careful control of expenditure it should, however, be possible to secure a substantial credit balance at the end of the coming year.

In the general working expenses of the College the total sum expended will probably be about the same as in the past year. Taxes will be heavier and fuel and light dearer, but some reduction in the amount expended on repairs and redecorations may be effected by the postponement for the present of all such matters not of an urgent nature.

As regards the Museum, the partial suspension of the ordinary work of the department and the utilisation of the services of the staff for purposes connected with the War is likely to cause some diminution in the amount expended upon catalogues and reports, specimens and appliances, and furniture and fittings, but it is unlikely that there will be any substantial reduction in the total expenditure of the department.

In the case of the Library, the reduced expenditure, to which attention has been called as having been brought about in the last year, seems likely to continue for the present.

It is, however, under the head of Extraordinary Expenditure that there is most room for retrenchment. At the present time the only items which it is possible to foretell under this head are a further payment for insurance against damage by aerial bombardment, and the continuation of allowances to servants of the College on active service in the Army, which are now being made at the rate of £423 per annum. The whole of this sum must not, however, be regarded as additional expenditure incurred by the College, as, owing to the closing of the Museum, it has not been necessary to fill up all the vacancies occasioned by the temporary retirement of members of the staff, and wages at the rate of not more than £156 per annum are being paid for substitutes.

The Increase in Taxation.

As the net dividends on investments are given in the printed statement of accounts, the amount of the Income Tax paid is not shown, and, with the object of showing the effect of the increase in the rate of the Tax, the following table is appended :—

	1913–14.	1914–15.	1915–16.
	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.
Inc. Tax on Investments	413 6 9	600 2 4	921 12 10
do. Property let	61 16 8	88 6 8	132 10 0
do. Property occupied.	155 11 3	222 4 6	333 6 10
	630 14 8	910 13 6	*1,387 9 8
Corporation Duty	201 12 1	204 19 7	214 5 2
	£832 6 9	£1,115 13 1	£1,601 14 10

* Calculated on the basis of an Income Tax of 2/6 in the £.

It will be seen that the additional taxation in the year to Midsummer-day 1915 has amounted to £283, and that a further addition of £486 is anticipated for the year to Midsummer-day 1916. Against the increase of £283 in 1914–1915 may be set a net income of £169 derived from new investments, whilst against the anticipated increase of £486 for 1915–1916 it is probable that there will be a set-off of about £350 in the form of income from new investments.

XV. Resolutions of Condolence.

Sir Henry Greenway Howse, past President, died 15th September, 1914.

That the Council hereby express their deep regret at the death of Sir Henry Greenway Howse, and their sincere sympathy with Lady Howse and the members of the family in the loss which they have sustained.

The Council remember with gratitude the many services rendered by Sir Henry Howse to the College as its President, the active part he took in the business of the Council, and his long service as Examiner. They do also record their appreciation of the prominent part taken by him in the advance of modern surgery, and his simple-minded devotion to the interests of the Profession in which he held so distinguished a position.

Charles Barrett Lockwood, Member of Council, died 8th November, 1914.

That the Council do hereby express their deep regret at the death of their colleague, Mr. Charles Barrett Lockwood, whom they highly esteemed as an accomplished and skilful surgeon, and for whom they entertained the warmest feelings of personal friendship.

That the Council also desire to express their appreciation of Mr. Lockwood's services to the College as a Member of the Council during the last six years, and their very sincere sympathy with Mrs. Lockwood and her children in their bereavement.

Thomas Bryant, past-President, died 31st December, 1914.

The Council express their deep regret at the death of Mr. Thomas Bryant, whose long connection with the College began sixty-five years ago when he became a Member. They recall the fact that he served three terms as a Member of the Council and for three years was President of the College.

They cannot forget the great services that Mr. Bryant rendered to the College in these capacities and also in that of Examiner, his genial personality, and the distinguished position he held in the profession both as a teacher and as a skilful and original surgeon.

The Council also desire to express their sympathy and condolence with the members of Mr. Bryant's family in the loss which they have sustained.

Frederick Howard Marsh, past Vice-President, died 24th June, 1915.

That the Council hereby express their deep regret at the death of Professor Howard Marsh, whom they highly esteemed as an able Surgeon, keenly interested in all matters relating to surgical education and the advancement of surgical science, and whose services to the Profession and to the College they remember with grateful appreciation.

The Council feel that the College has lost a distinguished Fellow, who will long be remembered not only for his professional abilities, but for his geniality and attractive personal qualities, and they desire to express their sincere sympathy with Mrs. Marsh and the other members of the family in the loss which they have sustained.

Richard Clement Lucas, past Vice-President, died 30th June, 1915.

That the Council hereby express their deep regret at the death of Mr. Clement Lucas. They esteemed him highly as an able colleague and they desire to record their high appreciation of the manner in which he discharged all the duties that devolved upon him both as Member of the Council and a Vice-President of the College. They greatly regretted that ill-health compelled him to resign his seat on the Council, and they desire to offer their sincere sympathy to the members of his family in their bereavement.

Edmund Owen, past Vice-President, died 23rd July, 1915.

That the Council hereby express their deep regret at the death of their former colleague, Mr. Edmund Owen, whom they highly esteemed as an able Surgeon, and for whom they entertained the warmest feelings of personal friendship, and they desire to offer their sincere sympathy to the members of his family in the loss which they have sustained.

The Council also desire to record their appreciation of Mr. Owen's many services to the College as a Vice-President, Member of the Council and Member of the Court of Examiners, of the keen interest which he displayed in all matters relating to the welfare of the Profession, and of his energy and devotion on behalf of the wounded.

His ready sympathy and cheery presence will be sadly missed in the large circle of friends which his many admirable qualities gathered round him.

THE MUSEUM.

The Hunterian Collection, which forms the basis, and still a large proportion, of the contents of the present Museum of the Royal College of Surgeons of England, was originally arranged in a building which its Founder, John Hunter, erected for it in 1784, behind his house in Leicester Square.

John Hunter died October 16th, 1793, aged 65. By his will he directed the Museum to be offered in the first instance to the British Government, on such terms as might be considered reasonable, and in case of refusal to be sold in one lot, either to some foreign state, or as his executors might think proper.

In the year 1799 Parliament voted the sum of £15,000 for the Museum, and an offer of it being made to the Corporation of Surgeons, it was accepted on the terms proposed by Government*.

In 1806 the sum of £15,000 was voted by Parliament in aid of the erection of an edifice for the display and arrangement of the Hunterian Collection; a second grant of £12,500 was subsequently voted, and upwards of £21,000 having been supplied from the funds of the College, the building was completed in Lincoln's-Inn-Fields, in which the Museum was opened for the inspection of visitors in the year 1813.

In consequence of the large number of additions, this building became too small for the adequate display and arrangement of its contents; and more space being at the same time required for the rapidly increasing Library, the greater portion of the present building was erected, wholly at the expense of the College, in 1835, at

* The following are the Terms and Conditions on which the Hunterian Collection, purchased by Parliament, was delivered to the late Corporation of Surgeons; which Corporation having become dissolved, the Members thereof were re-incorporated by Charter, dated the 22nd day of March, 1800, under the Title of The Royal College of Surgeons in London:—

1st. The Collection shall be open Four Hours in the Forenoon of two days every week for Inspection and Consultation of the Fellows of the College of Physicians, the Members of the Company of Surgeons and Persons properly introduced by them; a Catalogue of the Preparations, and a proper Person to explain it, being at those times always in the Room.

† 2nd. That one Course of Lectures, not less than twenty-four in number, on Comparative Anatomy and other subjects, illustrated by the preparations, shall be given every year by some Member of the Company.

3rd. That the Preparations shall be kept in a state of Preservation, and the Collection in as perfect a state as possible, at the Expense of the Corporation of Surgeons, subject to the annual Inspection and Superintendence of the Trustees.

4th. That there shall be a Board of Trustees, to consist of sixteen (increased to seventeen by the Lords of the Treasury in 1856) Members, by virtue of their Public Offices, and of fourteen others, to be appointed, in the first instance, by the Lords of the Treasury, and afterwards to be elected, as Vacancies may happen, by a Majority of the remaining Trustees.

5th. That the Museum shall always be open for the Inspection of all or any of the said Trustees, who are to take care that the Corporation of Surgeons perform their Engagements respecting the said Collection. That a day be appointed for the annual Inspection of the Museum, by the Trustees acting collectively as a Board; and that they are also to have quarterly Meetings, for the transacting of any Business relative to the Museum, and for the filling up of such Vacancies as may happen in the number of the Trustees; and that the Corporation of Surgeons shall engage some person to officiate as Secretary to the Board upon such occasions, and to issue previous Notice to the Members, in which he is to state particularly whether any Vacancies are to be filled up by new Elections.

† This Clause was altered by the Lords of the Treasury in 1894, to the following, viz.:—

2nd. That one Course of Lectures, not less than twelve in number, on Comparative Anatomy and other subjects, illustrated by preparations from the Hunterian Collection and the other contents of the Museum, shall be given every year by Fellows or Members of the College.

a cost of about £40,000, and the Hunterian and Collegiate Collections were rearranged in what are now termed Rooms Nos. III. and IV., which were opened for the inspection of visitors in 1836.

Further enlargement of the building having become necessary by the continued increase of the Collection, the College, in 1847, purchased the extensive premises of Mr. Alderman Copeland, in Portugal Street, for the sum of £16,000, and in 1852 proceeded to the erection of Room No. V., at the expense of £25,000, Parliament granting £15,000 in aid thereof. The rearrangement of the specimens was completed, and the additional portion of the building opened to visitors in 1855. The Collection still continuing to increase and more space having again become necessary, the College in 1888 determined to erect, at a cost of £19,000, two new Museums on the western side of the old structure. These buildings, called Rooms Nos. I. and II., were completed in 1891. Besides giving greater accommodation for the Collection in general they have also provided space for the display of photographs and drawings illustrating Diseases.

The Hunterian Collection was estimated to consist of 13,682 specimens, distributed under the following heads :—

Physiological Department, or Normal Structures.

Physiological preparations in spirit	3745
Osteological preparations	965
Dry do.	617
Zoological do.	1968
Fossils :—
Vertebrate	1215
Invertebrate	2202
Plants	292

Pathological Department, or Abnormal Structures.

Preparations in spirit	1084
Dry preparations (including bones)	625
Calculi and concretions	536
Monsters and Malformations	218
Microscopic preparations	215

Of the additions by which the size and value of the Collection have been so materially increased since it came into the possession of the College, very many have been presented by Fellows and Members of the College, and other persons interested in scientific pursuits. Among the largest contributions from this source have been the Collection, consisting of 847 specimens, presented in 1811 by Sir William Blizard; a valuable series of Pathological specimens presented in 1851 by Sir Stephen L. Hammick; and a Collection, presented in 1905 by Lt.-Colonel Sir Richard Havelock Charles, I.M.S., K.C.V.O., consisting of 248 skulls, and other specimens, representative of many of the Castes and Tribes of India. At the same time the Council of the College have availed themselves of various opportunities as they have occurred to purchase specimens of interest, especially at the dispersion of private anatomical and pathological museums, as that of Sir A. Lever in 1806, of Mr. Joshua Brookes in 1828, of Mr. Heaviside in 1829, Mr. Langstaff in 1835, Mr. South in the same year, Mr. Howship and Mr. Taunton in 1841, Mr. Liston in 1842, Mr. Walker in 1843, and, deserving of especial mention on account of the great number and value of the specimens acquired, those of Sir Astley Cooper in 1843 and Dr. Barnard Davis in 1880.

The Histological Collection, of which the 215 Hunterian specimens (prepared by Hewson) constitute the nucleus, was chiefly formed by the late Professor Quekett, with considerable additions by purchase from Dr. Tweedy J. Todd, Mr. Nasmyth, and Professor Lenhossek. It now contains upwards of 12,000 specimens, all arranged and catalogued so as to be readily available for reference.

In 1909 the Collection of the Odontological Section of the Royal Society of Medicine, consisting of about 5000 specimens, was transferred to the College under a Deed of Trust, and is now arranged with the other odontological specimens belonging to the College in a room specially prepared for its reception under Room II. of the Museum.

The superintendence of the Museum is confided by the Council of the College to a Committee of its Members, which Committee has held five meetings during the past year.

A summary of the progress made in the preservation, arrangement, and augmentation of the Collection will be found in the following Report.

CONSERVATOR'S REPORT.

Precautionary Measures for Safety of Specimens.—In all the great Museums of London measures have been taken to safeguard the more precious possessions from destruction by the enemy's air-craft. As regards the Museum of the Royal College of Surgeons this danger was particularly acute, because of the quantity of methylated spirits used for the permanent preservation of specimens; the violent explosion of a bomb in any of the rooms of the Museum would necessarily cause a wide destruction of the glass jars in which the specimens are mounted and the escape of a large quantity of inflammable spirit.

In the first phase of the present War the risk did not appear sufficiently great to require any precautionary measures, but after the fall of Antwerp on October 9th, and the indiscriminate bombardment of Paris by German air-craft two days later, it became apparent that the danger was a real one. The President of the College took the matter into consideration and gave instructions to have all spirit-specimens and all stocks of spirit in the upper work-rooms of the Museum removed to the strong vaulted basement under the Museum and College. That measure was duly carried out by the Museum staff in the third week of October. As a further safeguard, a cellar opening off the basement under Room I. of the Museum was converted into a strong and fire-proof room, in which 500 to 600 of the more valuable Hunterian specimens might be placed in any time of danger. The Hunterian Trustees, at a quarterly meeting held on February 10th gave instructions that the President of the College, in consultation with the Conservator, should take such steps as were considered necessary to safeguard the Hunterian Collection.

Nothing further was done until May, when raids by Zeppelins and other forms of the enemy's air-craft became not infrequent along the eastern and south-eastern coasts. The Museum Committee held a special meeting on May 18th and decided that the Museum should be closed to ordinary visitors until further notice, and that the spirit specimens—about 12,000 in number—and the more valuable osteological preparations and wax models should be placed temporarily in the basement under the Museum until the impending danger had passed. All other work was stopped: all members of the staff applied themselves to the task, which was accomplished in a space of three weeks. The specimens are now arranged in an orderly manner in the basement according to a scheme which the Conservator had drawn up early in the winter in consultation with his colleagues and the foreman of the Museum, William Finerty. The more precious specimens were placed in the strong room, while such preparations as are required for Examinations were kept apart. Medical men can still have access to any particular group of specimens they may wish to study.

The Conservator wishes to acknowledge the willing assistance given by all members of the Museum Staff during the removal and the skilful manner in which the foreman carried out the scheme.

Enlistment of Attendants.—On the outbreak of War, Sidney Brinicombe, a reservist who was temporarily engaged as an attendant in the Museum, was called up for active service in the Royal Army Medical Corps. In September the regular attendants began to go: John Hinde, G. E. Birt, and Ernest Smith volunteered and were accepted for service. In February the remaining attendant, Henry Brightwell joined the Royal Army Medical Corps, in which Sidney Steward, attendant in the Physiological Department, has also enlisted recently. In the cases of the regular attendants, the College pays half wages to their families or dependants and retains the other half for payment to them on their return to the service of the College. Their places in the Museum were taken by W. H. Alderwood, who was engaged in September last as a laboratory assistant; by Frederick Balcon, who was engaged as a temporary assistant but soon after volunteered for service in the Royal Army Medical Corps; and by part-time service of S. Bithell and S. Steward, who are usually employed in the upper workrooms. Two women were engaged to dust specimens. In this manner an efficient Museum service was maintained.

Mr. R. H. Burne is given leave of absence.—In the month of May the Museum Staff was further reduced. The Curator of the Physiological Section, Mr. R. H. Burne, was given leave of absence to take service under the French Red Cross.

Ambulance and other Classes.—For many years it has been customary to give teachers of ambulance, first aid, and nursing classes permission to bring their pupils to study preparations in the Museum. In this respect the College performs an important public service, which has been particularly apparent during the past year. In the opening months of the War it was a common occurrence for a whole company of the Royal Army Medical Corps to visit the Museum under the direction of its officer. The members of many of these classes are free only on Saturday afternoons, and to meet their convenience the Museum, as has been the custom in past years, was kept open on 22 occasions during the past year. Of the 11,785 people who have visited the Museum last year, 1790 belonged to Saturday afternoon classes. Classes from the London County Council Training Colleges and Schools have, as in former years, been given permission to study in the Museum.

The removal of the Museum preparations to a place of safety made it necessary to cancel the permission granted to all these visiting classes. It was also suggested to them at the same time that permission might be obtained to continue their studies at Museums attached to Medical Schools if application were made to the proper authorities. The Secretary of the College addressed a letter to the Deans of several of the London Medical Schools asking for assistance in this matter.

On July 27th the members of the 5th Clinical Congress of Surgeons of North America were invited by the President and Council to visit the College and Museum; a similar invitation was extended to the members of the International Dental Congress on Aug. 5th. The unsettled conditions of public affairs made these visits less successful than usual.

The Museum has also been visited by members of the Croydon Branch of the British Medical Association, the Home Counties Association, the fellows of the Royal Anthropological Institute, members of the Prehistoric Society of East Anglia, of the Anatomical Society, and of the London and Middlesex Archæological Association.

Specimens illustrating Gunshot Injuries.—There are already in the Museum some preparations showing the kinds of wounds sustained by our soldiers and sailors in the wars of last century. The late Sir William Mac Cormac presented a number which he collected during the Franco-Prussian War. Those who have had occasion to study these very imperfect representations of the wounds and injuries sustained by our army and navy in former great campaigns have often wished that the military surgeons of those times had taken more pains to illustrate and perpetuate their experience for the instruction of following generations. It was therefore felt by many Fellows and Members of the College that every effort should be made to secure for the Museum a series of specimens which would illustrate the character of the wounds and injuries sustained under the conditions of modern warfare, and the progress of such wounds under all modes of treatment. With this object in view some progress has already been made. Sir Victor Horsley has presented a number of preparations which he made while carrying out an experimental research on the destructive effects of high velocity bullets. Col. Sir George Makins has given us an opportunity of illustrating the sequelæ which may follow wounds of blood-vessels. Mr. Stanley Boyd, Dr. J. B. Christopherson, Mr. W. G. Spencer, and Mr. Arthur Evans have presented instructive specimens. In the course of preparing such specimens for the Museum Mr. Cecil Beadles has been able to throw much light on the nature and extent of the lesion.

Medical History of the War.—The steps just narrated were taken in the earlier months of the war and were designed merely to meet the needs of the Museum. In the spring of the present year, however, the War Office constituted a committee under the presidency of Sir Alfred Keogh, Director-General of the Army Medical Service, to compile a Medical History of the War. Dr. W. Morley Fletcher was appointed Secretary of the Committee. One of the objects of this Committee was to collect from all military hospitals such specimens as would help it to understand and to illustrate the nature of the wounds, injuries, and diseases suffered by soldiers during the present war. At the beginning of May, Dr. Morley Fletcher on behalf of the Medical History Committee, approached the Council of the College with a view of obtaining its assistance in the collection and preservation of such specimens. The Council decided to place the work-rooms and store-rooms of the Museum at the disposal of the Royal Army Medical Corps, and to preserve, classify, and register all specimens forwarded from military hospitals for the use and disposal of the Medical History Committee. It may be added that the War Office has issued a memorandum circular requesting medical officers attached to military hospitals to forward all specimens which may prove instructive, from either a clinical or a pathological point of view, for temporary preservation in the Museum of the Royal College of Surgeons. From the date at which the Council decided to undertake the collection of specimens for the Medical History Committee, all military specimens received at the Museum are not, as a matter of course, the property of the College, but of the Royal Army Medical Corps. But it is hoped that when the Medical History Committee has finished its work and the Royal Army Medical College has obtained such specimens as it requires for its Museum, that the Museum of the Royal College of Surgeons will be entitled to a representative share of what remains.

Work connected with the Museum.—From the events and changes already mentioned in this report it will be readily understood that the progress in the re-arranging and re-cataloguing of various sections of the Museum has been interrupted and delayed. When the specimens were removed from the Museum, it was found possible to arrange the section of General Pathology in the basement in exactly the same order as it occupied on the floor-space of Room III., thus rendering it possible for Mr. Shattock and Mr. Beadles to continue their important work during the temporary closing of the Museum.

Mr. S. G. Shattock, Pathological Curator, gives the following account of the work carried out in the Pathological section of the Museum :—

"Since the last Report, the following progress has been made in regard to the Collection illustrating General Pathology :

"The series of the various forms of Carcinoma has been fully completed, and the important series illustrating the Biology of Neoplasms has been described, and the chief part of these specimens has been redisplayed and remounted ; owing to the shortage of labour, however, the remounting is not yet all carried out.

"This Series has been considerably extended since the original plan was drawn up, and it will in its final state occupy at least five blocks of stands. It is designed to show all that can be so done, in regard to the life-history of new growths. The following list of its subdivisions will indicate its scope :—

Trauma, Inflammation, etc. as causative agents of tumour growth.

The experimental transplantation of Malignant Neoplasms.

Hæmorrhage ; Aseptic Necrosis in new growths ; Inflammation of Tumour ; Œdema ; Degenerations.

The formation of false cysts.

Cysts arising in new growths.

Changes produced in bone by the growth of Neoplasms ; the Retrogression and Contraction of malignant tumours.

Direct extension ; Local recurrence ; Extension into the lumen of veins ; Extension along lymphatics.

Metastasis in distant organs.

Autoinoculation.

Multiple growths in the same organ, or in different organs in the same individual.

Transformation of benign into malignant neoplasms.

Functionating tumours.

Tumour formation in Plants.

The concluding section of General Pathology will comprise the whole of the series of specimens in the Museum illustrating Foreign bodies, including the results of gun-shot.

On the delivery of the four extra blocks of shelving in the Autumn, 1914, the arrangement of the blocks was simplified, so that that given on page 2 of the last Annual Report does not at present hold good.

The new specimens added during the year number about 150, of which most are incorporated in the series of General Pathology.

Research Work.—In the Report of last year mention was made of a research which the Conservator, assisted by the Prosector, Mr. Henry Wilson, was carrying out on the colon. During the present year, these investigations have been continued and extended, and promise to yield useful results. Sir W. Arbuthnot Lane and Sir Berkeley Moynihan have given most valuable assistance by forwarding for preservation and minute examination, specimens of great bowel which had been removed by operation on account of disease. Mr. Wilson has made a series of macroscopic and microscopic preparations from 15 specimens of diseased colon. Dr. W. C. Mackenzie, who was given permission to carry out research in the laboratories of the Museum, is investigating the Comparative Anatomy and Physiology of the great bowel on most valuable material which he brought with him from Australia.

As in former years, the Conservator has had a number of opportunities of examining and describing human remains found by archæologists in the course of their explorations. In some cases the specimens are presented to the Museum, in other cases they are reserved for local museums, but in every case a complete examination and record is made, for it is only in such a way that a physical history of the British people can be built up. During the past year specimens have been reported on for the Manx Archæological Society, Mr. H. S. Wellcome, Mr. H. C. Lawlor of Belfast, Mr. Donald Atkinson of Reading University College, Mr. J. Reid Moir of Ipswich, the East Anglian Prehistoric Society (remains from Grimes Graves now deposited in the Museum), Mr. F. C. Wardle, Mr. G. G. T. Treherne (remains from South Wales), Middlesborough Museum, Public Library of Gravesend, Dr. J. W. W. Stephens of the Liverpool School of Medicine, Mr. Powell, and for Mr. J. Lewis Abbott.

Mr. Henry C. Wilson appointed Prosector.—In the Report of last year mention was made of the retirement of Mr. William Pearson on account of ill-health, after having served the College for a period of almost 58 years. Mr. Henry C. Wilson, who entered the service of the College in 1905, becoming assistant prosector in 1911, has been appointed prosector in succession to Mr. Pearson.

Descriptive Catalogue of the Instrument Collection.—Two years ago the Council requested Mr. Alban Doran to undertake the preparation of a new descriptive catalogue of the instruments and surgical appliances in the Museum collection, which has been added to very largely in recent years. The task has proved a more complex one than either Mr. Doran or the Conservator anticipated,

Mr. Doran has had to search medical literature to discover the origin and evolution of many of the forms of instruments invented and used by surgeons of past times. He has already completed three parts or volumes of the catalogue, viz. :—

Vol. I.—A Descriptive Catalogue of the Obstetric Forceps in the Museum of the Royal College of Surgeons of England (including all forceps belonging to the loan collection from the Royal Society of Medicine, formerly constituting the Museum of the Obstetric Society of London).

Vol. II.—A Descriptive Catalogue of Gynæcological Instruments in the Museum of the Royal College of Surgeons of England.

Vol. III.—Descriptive Catalogue of the Surgical Instruments, formerly the property of Lord Lister, in the Royal College of Surgeons of England. (Group I.—Instruments designed by or closely associated with Lord Lister.)

As each volume is finished seven copies are typewritten and bound, and thus Mr. Doran's researches become at once available to the visitors to the Museum. In the Conservator's opinion these three volumes represent now, and will for many years to come, standard treatises on the particular group of instruments dealt with, and it is hoped that at some future time, when Mr. Doran has completed the series, means will be found for their publication, so that they may become accessible to all who are interested in the history of surgical technique.

Several additions were made to the Instrument Collection during the past year. Mr. G. Buckston Browne gave a series illustrating old types of instruments used during operations on the bladder and urethra. Amongst these were the original pattern of Clover's evacuating bulb as used by Sir Henry Thompson, and a series of Clover's tubes—all of which had been originally given to the donor by Dr. Joseph Clover. Sir Rickman Godlee, Bart., presented Lister's ear-scoop and a packet of dressings of the type supplied to British soldiers during the Boer war. Other gifts were received from Dr. A. Bowes Elliott (stricture dilator), Dr. Meredith Townsend, Master of the Society of Apothecaries (case of bladder staffs), Mr. Stanley Boyd (two knives used by Ferguson and vaccination case used by Dr. John Abercromby), Mr. John Morgan (early 19th century vaccination case), Dr. H. A. Lediard, Dr. Francis Warner, and Mr. Mayo Robson.

Mr. Arthur Cheatle's Catalogue of Ear Specimens.—Five years ago the Council requested Mr. Arthur Cheatle to prepare a descriptive catalogue of the specimens in the Museum illustrating Injuries and Diseases of the Ear. The Collection and Catalogue prepared by the late Mr. Joseph Toynbee, F.R.S., and presented by him to the College, have been kept apart and not included in the series now numbered and described by Mr. Cheatle. In his opinion, and it is one shared by all who are in a position to judge, the Toynbee Collection and Catalogue should always be preserved in the form given them by their author, for by common consent Joseph Toynbee is regarded as the pioneer of aural surgery, and his work marks a distinct stage in the evolution of our present knowledge. When Mr. Cheatle began his task, the Museum, except for the Toynbee Collection, had a very imperfect representation of ear specimens. To supply this deficiency Mr. Cheatle presented his private collection—a valuable and extensive one—a gift for which the Council of the College gave him a special vote of thanks. He has now prepared a catalogue of the completed collection, and has placed a printed descriptive card with each specimen. The Council has ordered Mr. Cheatle's Catalogue to be published as one of the series of Museum Guides.

Museum Demonstrations.

Eleven Demonstrations were given in connexion with the Museum during the past year. Three of these were given by the Conservator (Prof. Keith), six by the Pathological Curator (Mr. Shattock), and two by the Honorary Odontological Curator (Mr. Colyer). As will be seen from the subjoined list, all these demonstrations were given on specimens in the Museum and represented the results of special investigation carried out by the members of the Museum staff.

Owing to the absence of the Conservator, the spring demonstrations usually given by him were postponed until the autumn.

On the occasion of the meeting of the 5th Clinical Congress of Surgeons of North America a series of demonstrations were given in the theatre of the College by Sir Rickman Godlee, Bart., Mr. Arthur Cheatle, Mr. S. G. Shattock, Mr. J. F. Colyer, and the Conservator.

Gifts and other Additions to the Museum.—Ever since the commencement of last century it has been the custom to place the annual additions to the Museum on exhibition on the day of elections to the Council and on the two succeeding days. In the present exceptional year it was decided to postpone the exhibition of specimens prepared for the Museum during the past twelve months until the Council election of next year. Hence the descriptive lists of specimens, with the names of their donors, which is usually appended to the Conservator's Annual Report to serve as a guide to those who visit the annual exhibition, are postponed to the issue of the next Report.

Some of the gifts, however, must be acknowledged now. Dr. H. Drinkwater, of Wrexham, whose researches in Brachydactyly are well known, has presented wax models of the hands of two individuals of families where that condition is hereditary. Dr. J. B. Christopherson, of Khartoum, has given to the Museum the skeleton of an adult negro who was the subject of Achondroplasia, besides other specimens. The series of enlarged and of abnormal tonsils presented by Mr. Fred. C. Pybus made a welcome addition. The Museum is also indebted to the following gentlemen:—Dr. H. A. Lediard, Dr. C. W. Pitt (Enchondroma of the hand), Mr. Frank Corner (casts from cases of membranous Colitis), Mr. G. H. Colt (hæmorrhage into a calcified hydrocele), Sir John Bland-Sutton, Mr. William Morris, Dr. Harold Rischbieth (Hydatid of Lung), Prof. Fred Bird (skiagrams of Hydatids of Lung), Mr. Harold Stiles (congenital malformation of Œsophagus), Sir William Osler (intestinal sand), Mr. H. Morriston Davies (Teratoma of Anterior Mediostinum), Mr. W. Morley Willis (kidney containing calculus).

Additions to the Teratological Collection have been made by Mr. F. H. Weekes, Dr. A. Emslie Crabb, Dr. E. H. Rainey, Mr. John Marshall Tamblyn-Watts, Dr. H. B. Willoughby-Smith, Dr. John C. Williams, Dr. Henry H. Sturge, Dr. W. Blair Bell (the fundus of the uterus, with genital glands showing structural characters of both ovary and testicle—removed by operation), Dr. Hugh C. Wilson, Mr. Matthew Corner, Mr. Frank Corner, Mr. F. O. Bennett, Mr. G. N. Stathers, and Dr. Hammond Smith, who has added several specimens showing abnormal development of sexual characters.

Additions to the sections of Human and Comparative Anatomy have to be acknowledged from Professor Wood Jones, Professor William Wright, Mr. H. Blakeway, and Colonel C. E. Shepherd. To Dr. George Finlayson the Museum is indebted for a collection of brains of Chinamen.

Crania and other additions to the section of Human Osteology have been received from the following gentlemen:—Mr. Frank Corner, Dr. Zammit (Curator of the Museum, Malta), Sir John Bland-Sutton, Mr. G. C. Tripe, Mr. C. S. Prideaux, H.M. Office of Works, Mr. George Sinclair, Mr. E. E. Chipp, Mr. J. G. Turner, Mr. J. S. McDonagh, Prof. Fred Bird, Dr. W. C. Mackenzie, Mr. J. Bernard Dawson, Dr. H. Barnes (of Carlisle), Mr. Hudson of Buenos Aires.

Dr. William Nicolle forwarded to the Museum ten type-specimens of trematodes described by him in the 'Proceedings' of the Zoological Society for March 1914. Mr. Richard Davis presented round worms found in the intestine of a Sparrow-Hawk, which Mr. H. A. Baylis, of the British Museum (Natural History), identified as Ascaris depessa.

Odontological Collection.—Many additions have been made to the Odontological Collection. Mr. J. G. Turner has presented a series of most valuable specimens, both anatomical and pathological, from his private collection. Donations have also been made by Mr. G. Payne, Dr. Arthur Stephen, Mr. G. Shiach, Dr. J. Kingston Barton, Mr. G. C. Sawday, Mr. W. H. Waldman, and particularly by the Honorary Curator of the Collection, Mr. J. F. Colyer. Many specimens were also purchased and added to the Collection by the Royal Society of Medicine.

Death of Mr. C. B. Lockwood.—The College and Museum sustained a serious loss by the death of the Chairman of the Museum Committee, Mr. C. B. Lockwood, on Nov. 8th, 1914.

The Conservator given leave of absence.—The Conservator was given leave of absence to give a series of lectures on Anthropology at the Western Reserve University, Cleveland, Ohio, and to visit the Medical Schools and Museum in Toronto, Montreal, Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington. He was absent from March 8th until May 3rd.

ARTHUR KEITH,
Conservator.

THE LIBRARY.

The Library of the College dates from the year 1800, in July of which year the first grant of a sum not exceeding £50 was made for Library purposes. It had been the intention of the old Corporation of Surgeons to form a Library, but they failed to carry their intention into effect. In its early years the Library was considerably increased by presentations and bequests of books—the principal donors being Dr. Baillie, Sir Everard Home, Sir Charles Blicke, the widow of Mr. Sharp, Sir Ludford Harvey, Dr. Fleming, Mr. Cotton, and Mr. Long. The Court of Assistants also directed from time to time the expenditure of small sums of money for the purchase of books. Sir Charles Blicke, in the year 1816, invested the sum of £300, the proceeds of which were to be devoted to the same object. By these means extensive purchases were from time to time made from the libraries of Mr. Pitt, Mr. St. André, Sir Anthony Carlisle, and others. The progress of the Library, however, for the first twenty-six years of its existence was very slow, but in 1827 great efforts were made to put it in a thoroughly good condition ; in that and the two subsequent years the sum of £5269 was spent in the purchase of books, and in 1829 the first Librarian was appointed. The College was practically rebuilt by Sir Charles Barry in 1835–36, and during that period the Library was closed, the books being packed in cases and stored in the Museum Gallery. On the 15th of February, 1837, the Library was re-opened, the rooms in the new building allotted to this department being the Reading-Room and the Librarian's Room. From this date until 1888 very little extra accommodation had been provided for the Library, a small Committee-Room had been fitted up with shelves and room made for a few books under the Theatre.

The munificent gift of Sir Erasmus Wilson enabled the Council in 1888 very materially to increase the Library accommodation, and at the same time to improve and re-decorate the existing building. The residence of the Conservator of the Museum at the east end of the College was pulled down, and the building erected on its site was devoted to Library purposes. On a level with the old Reading-Room an extension was built, the two rooms being connected by four archways, two on the ground and two in the Gallery. Beneath this a handsome Book-Room was provided, and below that a spacious Store-Room. The new building, as at present shelved, gives accommodation for 26,000 volumes. The Librarian's Room was considerably improved by throwing into it a loft above the old ceiling and a passage which led into the Reading-Room.

The whole of the Library premises were re-decorated, and the Electric Light was installed throughout. The heating apparatus, which was under the floor at the south side of the Library, was all removed, and in its place a coil of hot-water pipes was placed in each window. The gallery railing, being in an unsafe condition, was replaced by one of a stronger pattern.

This extension of the Library made it possible to re-arrange the books in such a way as to make them more accessible to readers. In the Gallery of the Extension stand the books on Anatomy, Physiology, Pathology, Medicine and Surgery; round the Reading-Room are ranged sets of the Periodicals and Transactions in greatest demand. There is also a good collection of dictionaries, encyclopædias, systems and general books of reference, conveniently arranged for the use of readers.

The lower room contains books on Chemistry and Physics, Materia Medica and Therapeutics, Forensic Medicine, Diseases of Women and Children, History of Medicine and Surgery, Biography and Bibliography. The basement is devoted to old sets of Journals and Transactions, a collection of Theses, and to miscellaneous books.

The Librarian's Room contains the books on Biology, and certain valuable works, including many Early Printed Books, which are kept in glass cases.

The current numbers of the Journals are displayed on tables down the middle of the Reading-Room: four of these are fitted with sliding trays, in which books too large for the wall-cases, and illustrated works still in progress, are kept. The new books are placed on a stand in the centre of the Room; these are catalogued directly they are received, and are at once available for readers. A list of the additions is posted in the Library.

The first Catalogue of the Library was issued in 1831. A classed Catalogue was prepared by Dr. Willis, and was in use in MS. for some years; in 1838 a synopsis of it was printed, and the work itself was published in 1843. In 1853 an index of subjects was issued, and four supplements to the Author Catalogue were published between the years 1840 and 1860. In 1890 a List of Transactions, Periodicals, and Memoirs in the Library was published. A new Catalogue of Authors and Subjects is now being prepared on cards; these are kept in cabinets at the west end of the Reading-Room, and are available for use by the readers. When the work is finished the cards can be used as copy for the printers.

The Library is particularly rich in the Transactions of Societies, and in Periodicals relating not only to Medicine and Surgery, but also to the accessory sciences. The large illustrated works on Zoology, Anatomy, &c., are also well represented. There is a good collection of Portraits of Members of the Medical Profession.

In December 1892 a Common Room for the use of Fellows and Members was opened in the Reading Room adjoining the Entrance Hall.

A new Store Room for books was fitted up in the basement in 1901, and in 1907 a new room with an annexe was added in proximity to the gallery of the large Library.

During the past year the supply of books has been well kept up, but the War has necessarily rendered it impossible for us to obtain our full supply of foreign periodicals.

The Donations include original works from Fellows and Members of the College, who have courteously paid attention to the Librarian's request in a previous Calendar.

In the order of their presentation they are as follows:—"The Tobacco Habit," from Dr. Tidswell; "Bibliogische Untersuchungen, Neue Folge XVIII," from Prof. Dr. Gustaf Retzius; his "Operative Treatment of Fractures," Edit. 2, from Sir W. Roberts, from the Royal Society of Medicine; his "Amœbiasis and the Dysenteries," from Dr. Ll. Powell Phillips; Knud Krabbe's Danish work on the Pineal Gland, from Dr. Leonard Kidd; his "First Annual Report," from the Secretary of the General Board of Control for Scotland; his work on "Abdominal Operations," 2 vols., Edit. 3, from Sir Berkeley Moynihan; "The Prescriber," No. 1, from the Editor Reprint of an article on the Piltdown Skull, from Mr. Charles Dawson, F.S.A.

Donations which deserve special mention are the following, from Sir John Tweedy :—

"Inductive Sociology," by Giddings, 1901; "Pure Sociology," by Lester Ward, 1903; "Der Papyrus Ebers," Theil I, 1913, by Wreszinski, and the same author's "Londoner Medizinischer Papyrus and Papyrus Hearst," 1912; "Die Kunst der Juno Lucina in Rom," by Curàtulo, 1902; "Account of the Egyptian Antiquities in the Possession of Lady Meux," by Wallis Budge, 4to., 1896; "The Funeral Tent of an Egyptian Queen," 1882, by Villiers Stuart; "The Book of the Dead," 4to., by Wallis Budge; "History of Penal Methods," by Ives, 1914; "Psychology, Normal and Morbid," by Mercier, 1901; "Analytic Psychology," 2 vols., 1896, by Stout; "Die Medicin der Naturvölker," by Bartels, 1893; "Anecdotes et Curiosités Historiques sur les Accouchements," by Witkowski, 1892; "La Thérapeutique des Vieux Maitres," by Fiessinger, 1897; "Aus Pharmazeutischer Vorzeit in Bild und Wort," by Peters, 1898; "Histoire de la Pharmacie," by André-Pontier, 1900; a French translation by Herrgott, "Histoire de l'Obstetricité," from the original by Von Siebold, 3 vols., 1893; photogravure of the old English painting known as "Bannister's Anatomy Lesson," with the late Dr. Joseph Payne's MS. note on the same in a letter; photogravure of Mr. Frank Salusbury's portrait of Sir John Tweedy; 163 valuable pamphlets; and "Hippocratis Latina Versio Princeps," published in Rome by Minutius Calvus in 1525, tall copy, folio (a magnificent book).

Sir Lauder Brunton's Donations include :—

"Université Libre de Bruxelles. Travaux de l'Institut de Thérapeutique," Vols. I–XI, 1897–1913; "Richerche esequite nell' Istituto di Farmacologia Sperimentale e di Chimia Fisiologica diretta dal Prof. Giuseppe Colasanti, 4 vols., 1893–1899; "Physiologische Methodik," Lieferung I, 1876, by Gscheidlen; "Versuche über die Gereizte Muskel- und Nervenfaser," etc., 2 vols., 1797, by Von Humbolt; "Recuerdo de 14 Congreso Internacional de Medicina, Madrid," 1903; plaster bust of Darwin by Woolner, which has been placed in the vestibule of the Museum.

A pathetic interest attaches to the late Mr. Edmund Owen's Donation, which came to us as recently as May last. It consists of 4 volumes of "Le Cabinet Secret de l'Histoire," by Dr. Cabanès, well-bound and illustrated, and "The Jewish Rite of Circumcision," by Asher. Mr. Edmund Owen was a frequent donor to the Library, which deplores his death and those of two other old and faithful friends, the late Professor Howard Marsh and the late Mr. Clement Lucas.

The great Catalogue is now practically completed. The War has rendered it possible to carry the work to a conclusion owing to the lightened pressure in routine. Begun by the late James Blake Bailey as long ago as 1887, the Catalogue, on the Index Principle, was at first believed to be terminable within a short period of years, but the multiplicity of old and curious books in the Library, the large collection of Hunterian and other College documents, and the great numbers of modern works, in many languages, which have had to be carefully recorded, have protracted the labours of cataloguers for twenty-eight years. The Librarian has good reason to believe that he has himself made upwards of 80,000 entries in the Card-Catalogue during 18 years, and, calculating on this basis, he is of opinion that his staff, past and present, have made at least an equal number. He desires to express to them his very sincere and appreciative thanks.

A full discussion of "The Catalogue of the Library of the Royal College of Surgeons of England" will be found at page 352 of the Dublin Journal of Medical Science, Vol. cxxx, 1910. The number of volumes in the Library, including volumes of tracts, containing as a rule 15 pamphlets, now neighbours upon 70,000. The Library contains much that is not in the shelves of the great and liberally encouraged Medical Library at Washington, much indeed that is unique. It was John Hunter, himself a collector of books, who first suggested the formation of the Library, but his Donations have never been traced. This is regrettable, since all his notes on his specimens form part of the Library.

In the autumn of 1914, Early Printed Books and Hunterian and other relics were stored in a place of safety.

During the year 1914–15 the Library has been open during 276 days. The number of Readers has been 6503, and the average per diem has been 23.

VICTOR G. PLARR,
Librarian.

REGULATIONS RELATING TO THE LIBRARY.

From January to July and from October to December the LIBRARY is open on each week-day, except Saturday, from 11 A.M. to 7 P.M. During August it is closed at 6 P.M., and is closed altogether in September, on Bank Holidays, and on the Saturday before each Monday Bank Holiday. On Saturday the Library closes at 1 P.M.

The removal of any book from the Reading-Room by Readers is strictly forbidden.

Readers are permitted to take books from the shelves for use in the Reading-Room; but they are requested not to return the books to their places, but to leave them on the Table.

Members of the College have the privilege of personally introducing a Visitor.

Persons, not Members, desirous of admission, must make application in writing to the Librarian, specifying their Christian name and Surname, Rank or Profession, and Residence. The application must be accompanied by a letter from a Fellow or Member, recommending that a Ticket be granted to the applicant. Tickets of admission, which are not transferable, are granted for six months; at the expiration of this time application must be made for their renewal.

In the case of Students the application must be made on a form, which may be obtained from the Librarian. Students' Tickets are granted for three months, and at the expiration of this time application must be made for their renewal.

The Catalogue is in Cabinets at the west end of the Room. Readers are requested to make personal application to the Librarian for any book they do not find in the Catalogue.

Readers, taking extracts from any book, may not lay the paper on which they write on any part of such book; nor may tracings be taken from any plate without the permission of the Librarian.

No note or comment shall be written in or upon any book belonging to the College. Any one observing a defect in a book is requested to report the same to the Librarian.

Readers desirous of consulting works not in the Library are requested to enter their wants in a Book provided for that purpose, in order that the same may be reported to the Committee.

Every person before admission to the Library is required to write his name and address in a Book kept for that purpose in the Entrance Hall.

4. The Prize shall be awarded by the Council on the recommendation of a Committee at the Quarterly Meeting of the Council in the April following the expiration of the quinquennial period. The Council shall not, however, award the Prize should they not consider any work deserving of it.

5. The Committee shall consist of five Members and shall be appointed by the Council not less than one year prior to the date of the award of the Prize. The Committee shall not of necessity be confined to Members of the Council.

6. The grounds upon which the Prize is awarded shall be made public at the time of the award.

7. The Prize shall be open to foreigners as well as to British subjects, and the Committee shall not be restricted in any way as to the selection of persons qualified to receive the Prize, with the exception that Members of the Council shall not be eligible.

NOTE.—It is not intended that Essays should be submitted in competition for this Prize, or that those who are anxious to obtain it should be called upon to submit their names as Candidates. It is hoped, however, that the knowledge of the reward which may be obtained, and the distinction which it will confer on its recipient, will prove an incentive to those who are occupied in the study of this disease.

John Tomes Prize.

1. The John Tomes Prize shall be awarded triennially.

2. The Prize shall consist of the amount of the interest accruing from the John Tomes Fund during the triennial period (about £30). A document, declaratory of the award, sealed with the College Seal, and signed by the President, shall be presented with the Prize.

5. The Prize shall be awarded by the Council on the recommendation of a Committee at the Quarterly Meeting of the Council in the April following the expiration of the triennial period. The Council shall, however, withhold the Prize if, in the opinion of the Committee, no work within the prescribed time be of sufficient merit to justify its award, and in such case shall either invest the dividends to augment the capital of the Fund, or adjudge the Prize to the author of some original research, deserving recognition, in other than dental subjects, which may have been carried out by any person eligible for the Prize.

6. The Committee shall consist of five members, and shall be appointed by the Council not less than one year prior to the date of the award of the Prize. The Committee shall not of necessity be confined to Members of the Council.

7. No essays shall be submitted in competition for the Prize in the case of the next award, which shall be for the period ending the 31st December, 1917; but it shall be open to the Committee to recommend to the Council that essays should be called for before any subsequent award.

1. The Cartwright Prize will be awarded quinquennially, and the next award will be for the five years ending 31st December, 1915.

2. The Prize consists of a Medal executed in bronze and an honorarium of £70.

3. The subject for the essays to be submitted in competition for the Prize is "Oral sepsis as a factor in the causation of general and local diseases."

4. Candidates for the Prize must be persons engaged in the study or practice of Dental Surgery and possessing qualifications capable of registration under the Medical Acts of the United Kingdom. (A Diploma or Licence in Dental Surgery without a Medical or Surgical Diploma or Degree will not be a sufficient qualification.)

5. The Prize will be awarded to the author of the best essay written in English upon the proposed subject, if such essay is considered of sufficient merit.

6. Every essay must have a motto or device and must be accompanied by a sealed paper containing the name and address of the author, and having on the outside a motto or device corresponding with the motto or device on the essay.

7. Each essay must be addressed to the Secretary of the Royal College of Surgeons of England, and delivered at the College not latter than 4 o'clock P.M. on the 31st December, 1915.

8. The manuscript Prize essay and every accompanying drawing and preparation will become the property of the Royal College of Surgeons of England.

9. Every unapproved essay which is unclaimed at the expiration of twelve months from the date of its receipt will be returned, with any accompanying drawing and preparation, to the author thereof at the address given in the sealed envelope.

Begley Studentship.

1. The Begley Studentship shall consist of the dividends derived from the Beyley Bequest, viz.: £20 per annum, and shall be tenable for three years, subject to the conditions hereinafter mentioned.

2. The Studentship shall be awarded in April 1918, and thereafter triennially, or at such time as any Studentship may become vacant.

3. The Studentship shall be open, on the occasion of the fifth award, to any Candidate admitted to the Second Examination of the Conjoint Examining Board in England held in March or April 1918.

4. The Studentship shall be awarded to the Candidate, if any, obtaining the highest number of marks in the Anatomical part of the Examination.

5. If two or more Candidates in the Anatomical part of the Examination shall obtain an equal number of marks, being with respect to the other Candidates the highest number of marks obtained by any Candidate, reference shall be made to the marks obtained by them respectively in the Physiological part of the Examination, and on the combined result the adjudication shall be made; and, if their marks shall still be equal, it shall be open to the two senior Examiners in Anatomy appointed by the Royal College of Surgeons to call upon such Candidates to present themselves for further examination, or to take such other steps as may enable them to adjudicate in the matter.

6. The examiners shall report their adjudication of the Studentship to the Council at the Meeting of the Council next succeeding the Examination.

7. The Stipend shall be paid yearly, and the Student shall receive the first instalment within three months after the award of the Studenship.

8. The Student shall be required, before payment of the second and third instalments respectively, to send to the Secretary of the Royal College of Surgeons of England a Certificate from the Dean of his Medical School to the effect that his conduct has been satisfactory and that he has been applying himself diligently to his studies, and should any Student fail to comply with this requirement he shall forfeit his Studentship and all future payments in respect thereof.

REGULATIONS OF THE COUNCIL RELATING TO MEETINGS OF FELLOWS AND MEMBERS.

1. A Meeting of Fellows and Members shall be summoned annually for the Thursday following the Ordinary Meeting of the Council in November, or for such other time as the Council may determine.

2. Other Meetings may be summoned, either with or without a requisition, at such times and for such objects as may by the Council be thought desirable.

3. Such requisition shall be signed by not less than 30 Fellows and Members, or Fellows or Members, and shall contain a statement of the object or objects for which the Meeting is requested.

4. At the Annual Meeting the Report of the Council shall be presented.
5. Motions introduced by Fellows or Members.

(a) shall have direct reference to the object or objects for which the Meeting has been summoned;

If, after the commencement of the Meeting, it shall be found upon a count that a Quorum be not present, the Meeting shall be dissolved.

8. The President or one of the Vice-Presidents, or in their absence the Senior Member of the Council present, shall be Chairman of the Meeting, and the Chairman's decision shall be final upon all points of order which may arise.

9. Not less than three week's notice of each Meeting shall be given by advertisement.

10. The Agenda paper shall be prepared 3 days before the Meeting, and shall be issued to any Fellow or Member who shall have applied for it.
